No. 4372-W.L. dated Simla, the 12th June 1916.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

THE Government of India have had under consideration the question of the application to lascar seamen left behind by reason of illness in ports of the United Kingdom of the provisions stated in sections 34 and 35 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1906 (6 Edw. 7 C. 48), by which the owner of a ship is liable for the medical expenses and maintenance of members of his lascar crew left behind sick at a foreign port. As there should be no differentiation of treatment between the cases of seamen left behind by reason of illness, whether in the United Kingdom or other ports, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following stipulation shall be added before the last additional stipulation in the Form of Agreement for lascars prescribed in the Resolution in the Department of Commerce and Industry No. 4817-4822-5, dated the 4th July 1912:—

“Additional stipulation which must be entered into and signed by the owner of the vessel or the master in his behalf:—

I hereby further agree that in the event of any of the said lascars being discharged or left behind at any port in the United Kingdom by reason of illness or incapacity (except venereal disease, or illness or incapacity due to his own wilful act or default or to his own misbehaviour), the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance and medicine, and of his maintenance until he is cured, or dies, or is returned to a port in British India, and of his conveyance to the port if so returned, and in the case of death the expenses (if any) of his burial, shall be defrayed by me, without any deduction on that account from his wages.”

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the foregoing resolution be forwarded to Local Maritime Governments in continuation of the Resolution in this Department No. 4117-4822-5, dated the 4th July 1912, for information and guidance, and also to the Director General of Commercial Intelligence for information.

3. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, appoint Inspectors for the purpose of determining whether any business is or was carried on by a hostile firm within the meaning of this Ordinance.

(4) The Inspector may require such person to produce any documents in his custody or power in any way relating to such business or to the persons by whom it is or was carried on or controlled.

(5) If any person so summoned refuses to come before the Inspector at the time appointed, the Inspector may cause him to be apprehended and brought before him for examination.

(6) If any person refuses to answer any question or to produce any document, which under this section the Inspector is empowered to ask or require production of, such person shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Power to prohibit or restrict or wind up hostile firm.

4. (1) The Governor General in Council may make an order either—

- (a) prohibiting any hostile firm from carrying on business except for the purposes and subject to the conditions, if any, specified in the order; or
- (b) requiring the business of such firm to be wound up; and may in any case, where he has made an order prohibiting or limiting the carrying on of the business, at any time, if he thinks it expedient, substitute for that order an order requiring the business to be wound up.

(2) Every order made under subsection (1) shall be published by notification in the Gazette of India.

(3) If any person contravenes the provisions of any order made under this section, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, and shall also be liable to fine.

(4) An order made under this section shall continue in force, notwithstanding the termination of the present war, until determined by order of the Governor General in Council.

5. (1) Where the Governor General in Council makes an order under this Ordinance requiring a business to be wound up the order shall, on notification in the Gazette of India, have effect as if it were a winding up order made by a Court under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and the provisions of that Act relating to winding up by the Court and the rules made thereunder subject to such exceptions, restrictions, extensions, modifications and adaptations as the Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, prescribe, or such other rules as may be prescribed by him, shall apply to the winding up of the business:

Winding up order.

Provided that, for the purposes of any winding up order under this Ordinance, all powers exercisable by the Court under the said Act shall be exercisable by the Governor General in Council or by such other authority as he may appoint either generally or specially in that behalf:

Provided also that the assets of the business and any money resulting from the realization of any part thereof shall be dealt with in accordance with such rules as the Governor General in Council may make in that behalf.

(2) Where an order has been made under this Ordinance directing the winding up of the business of a hostile firm, the hostile firm shall not, nor shall any other person, commence or initiate, whilst that order remains in force, any other proceedings of a like nature or calculated in any way to interfere with the carrying out of such order.

6. Where it appears to the Governor General in Council that a contract entered into before or during the war, or a transfer of property, moveable or immoveable, made during the war, with or by a hostile foreigner or a hostile firm is injurious to the public interest, or was made with the object of evading any provision of the law, the Governor General in Council may by order cancel or determine such contract, either unconditionally or upon such conditions as he thinks fit, or declare such transfer to be void either in whole or in part, or may impose such conditions on the transferee as he thinks fit.

Contracts or transfers against the public interest.

into before or during the war, or a transfer of property, moveable or immoveable, made during the war, with or by a hostile foreigner or a hostile firm is injurious to the public interest, or was made with the object of evading any provision of the law, the Governor General in Council may by order cancel or determine such contract, either unconditionally or upon such conditions as he thinks fit, or declare such transfer to be void either in whole or in part, or may impose such conditions on the transferee as he thinks fit.

7. (1) The Governor General in Council in any case where it appears to him to be expedient to do so may by order vest in any Custodian appointed under the Enemy Trading Act, 1915, any property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to or managed or held whether in trust or otherwise, for, or on behalf of, a hostile foreigner, a hostile firm, or any person or company residing in, or carrying on business in the dominions of, a State at war with His Majesty, or the right to transfer that property, and may by any such order or any subsequent order confer on the Custodian such powers of selling, managing and otherwise dealing with the property as to the Governor General in Council may seem proper.

(2) A vesting order under this section shall, notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, be sufficient to vest in the Custodian any property or the right to transfer any property as provided by the order without the necessity of any further document.

(3) Where, in the exercise of the powers conferred on him by the Governor General in Council, the Custodian proposes to sell any shares or stock forming part of the capital of any company or any securities issued by the company in respect of which a vesting order under this Ordinance has been made, the company may, with the consent of the Governor General in Council, purchase the shares, stock or securities, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any law or in any regulation of the company, and any shares, stock or securities so purchased may, from time to time, be re-issued by the company.

(4) The transfer by the Custodian of any property shall be conclusive evidence in favour of the transferee and of the Custodian that the requirements of this section have been complied with.

(5) All property vested in the Custodian under this section and the proceeds of the sale of, or money arising from, any such property, shall be dealt with by him in accordance with such directions as he may receive from the Governor General in Council; and no such property or money shall be liable to be attached or otherwise taken in execution.

8. Where a vesting order has been made under this Ordinance as respects any property belonging to, or held or managed for, or on behalf of, a person who appeared to the Governor General in Council to be a person to whom the provisions of section 7 were applicable, the order shall not, nor shall any proceedings thereunder or in consequence thereof, be invalidated or affected by reason only of such person having, prior to the date of the order, died or ceased to be a person to whom the said provisions were applicable, or subsequently dying or ceasing to be such a person or by reason of its being subsequently ascertained that he was not such a person, as the case may be.

9. Where the Custodian executes a transfer of any shares, stock or securities which he is empowered to transfer by a vesting order made under this Ordinance, the company in whose books the shares, stock or securities are registered shall, upon the receipt of the transfer so executed by the Custodian, and upon being required by him so to do, register the shares, stock or securities in the name of the Custodian or other transferee, notwithstanding any regulation or stipulation of the company, and notwithstanding that the Custodian is not in possession of the certificate, scrip or other document of title relating to the shares, stock or securities transferred; but such registration shall be without prejudice to any lien or charge in favour of the company or to any other lien or charge of which the Custodian has express notice.

10. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules for all or any of the following purposes, namely:—

(a) providing for the distribution or disposal of any assets, or any money resulting from the realization of any part thereof, of any business in respect of which a winding up order has been made under this Ordinance;

(b) prescribing that hostile foreigners and hostile firms or any class of hostile foreigners or hostile firms shall, when required by the Custodian, furnish to him such particulars as he may require of all or any moveable or immoveable property in their possession, or under their control, whether direct or indirect;

(c) requiring persons in British India to furnish to the Custodian such particulars as he may require of all or any class of debts or other property due by them to any person to whom the provisions of section 7 are or may be applicable;

(d) prescribing the remuneration payable to the Custodian in respect of his duties under this Ordinance, the fund from which it shall be paid, and the method of collecting the same; and

(e) generally for carrying out the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2) In making any rule under this section, the Governor General in Council may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to a term not exceeding six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

11. Every license for the time being in force granted under the Hostile Foreigners (Trading) Order permitting the licensee to trade or carry on business subject to conditions or restrictions shall be deemed to be an order made under section 4 (1) (a) of this Ordinance, and this Ordinance shall have effect accordingly.

12. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the powers conferred by section 7 in regard to the property, moveable or immoveable, of the persons referred to therein shall extend to the property, moveable or immoveable, in British India, of any company specified in such notification of which any member is a hostile foreigner or of which a hostile foreigner was a member or officer on the 3rd day of August, 1914, notwithstanding that such company is not a company trading in British India.

(2) On the publication of a notification under sub-section (1), the company shall be deemed to be a person referred to in section 7 of this Ordinance, and this Ordinance shall have effect accordingly.

13. Any act done after the 3rd day of August, 1914, by, or under the orders of, any officer of Government in respect of the property, moveable or immoveable, of any hostile foreigner or hostile firm which, if this Ordinance had been in force, could have been validly done in the exercise of the powers conferred thereby, or which could have been conferred thereunder, is hereby validated.

No. 534.—The following rules regarding the submission of petitions to the Government of India are, published for general information in supersession of the rules published with the Home Department Notification No. 147, dated the 19th January 1905, as amended by subsequent notifications.

RULES REGARDING THE SUBMISSION OF PETITIONS TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

GENERAL EXPLANATIONS.

1. In these rules the words "local Government" include a local Administration and the Commander-in-Chief in India, and also, except as regards petitioners under rule 11 (8) whose salary was more than Rs. 30 a month, the head of a department directly under the Government of India, and Army, Divisional and Independent Brigade Commanders.

2. These rules do not apply to non-pensionable subordinate, clerical and menial establishments employed in the construction and working of State Railways to whom Circular No. VI-Railway, Public Works Department, dated the 1st June 1888, applies.

3. These rules apply, so far as may be, to all memorials, letters and applications, etc., addressed to the Governor-General in Council.

4. These rules apply also to petitions by persons no longer in military employ who have served in the Army or the Royal Indian Marine, or have been attached to regiments or batteries or the staff or departments of the Army in any capacity.

SECTION I.

As to the submission of petitions to the Government of India by private persons or public bodies.

1. Every petition to the Government of India should be forwarded through the local Government having jurisdiction in respect of the subject-matter of the petition. In cases where no local Government is in a position to deal with the subject-matter of the petition, it should be forwarded through the local Government within whose jurisdiction the petitioner is or has last been residing or employed.

The Railway Board is regarded as the local Government in respect of memorials from persons subordinate to it.

2. A petition may be either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the petitioner, or, when the petitioners are numerous, by the signatures of one or more of them, and it must conclude with a specific prayer.

3. Every petition should be accompanied by a letter addressed to the local Government requesting its transmission to the Government of India, and, when any order of a local Government is appealed against, by a copy of such order, as well as of any orders passed in the case by subordinate authorities.

4. Communications on matters connected with any bills before the Imperial Legislative Council may be addressed either in the form of a petition to the Governor-General in Council or in a letter to the Secretary in the Legislative Department, and must in either case be sent to the Secretary in the Legislative Department. Ordinarily such communications will not be answered. Except in the case of the High Court at Fort William, such communications from courts, officials or public bodies should be sent through the local Government.

SECTION II.

*As to the submission of petitions by officers in civil employ.

5. Every officer in civil employ wishing to petition the Government of India should do so separately.

* NOTE (1)—The term "civil employ" includes employment by a local authority.

NOTE (2)—For the purposes of the rules in this section a petitioner is considered to be an "officer in civil employ" if he has been previously in civil employ and if his petition relates to any matter connected with his position while in such employ or the circumstances in which he left it.

6. Every petition from an officer in civil employ should be submitted through the head of the office or department to which the petitioner belongs or belonged, and should be forwarded by him through the usual official channel.

7. No officer in civil employ may submit a petition in respect of any matter connected with his official position unless he has some personal interest in the matter.

8. No notice will be taken of a petition relating to any matter connected with the official prospects or position of an officer in civil employ unless it is submitted by the officer himself.

SECTION III.

As to the transmission or withholding of petitions by local Governments.

9. Every petition to the Government of India should be forwarded by the local Government concerned with a concise statement of the material facts and (unless there are special reasons for not doing so) an expression of opinion.

If the petition is an appeal against an order of dismissal from Government service, the papers submitted by the local Government should show whether the charge against the petitioner was reduced to writing; whether his defence was taken and reduced to writing; and whether the decision was in writing. Where service or character books are maintained these also should be submitted.

10. When the petition is not in English, the local Government should transmit a translation with it.

11. Local Governments are vested with discretionary power to withhold petitions addressed to the Government of India in the following cases:—

- (1) When a petition is illegible or unintelligible.
- (2) When a petition contains language which, in the opinion of the local Government, is disloyal, disrespectful or improper.
- (3) When a previous petition has been disposed of by the Secretary of State for India or the Governor General in Council, and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.
- (4) When a petition is a mere application for relief, pecuniary or other, which is presented by a person manifestly possessing no claim or advancing a claim of an obviously unsubstantial character, or is so belated that its consideration is clearly impossible.
- (5) When a petition is an application for employment from a person not in the service of Government: or is a request for exemption from the provisions of any law or rule prescribing the qualifications to be possessed by persons in the service of Government or by persons engaging in any profession or employment.
- (6) When a petition is an appeal against the discharge of a person appointed in India on probation, if his discharge was ordered before the termination of his probation.
- (7) When a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision with which the executive has no legal power of interference.

NOTE.—In the following cases, namely:—

- (a) when a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision in a case in which the Government has reserved any discretion of interference, or
- (b) when a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision in a suit to which the Government was a party, or
- (c) when a petition is practically a prayer for mercy or pardon, or contains such a prayer, the petition must be transmitted to the Government of India, unless it falls under clause (15) of this rule, or unless it is a petition of the kind referred to in clause (c) and the case is one of which the local Government is competent to dispose on its own responsibility under the orders contained in the Home Department letter No. 1126—1137, dated the 10th September 1915.

- (8) When a petition is an appeal against the appellate order of a Local Government upholding a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 250 a month.

NOTE 1.—If the appellate order of the local Government modifies the order appealed against to the disadvantage of the appellant, such appellate order should, for the purposes of this rule, be regarded as an original order of the local Government and the appeal should be transmitted.

NOTE 2.—The local Government should, for the purposes of this rule, be considered to have upheld a decision if it modifies the order appealed against to the advantage of the appellant.

NOTE 3.—The words "appellate order" include any order passed on revision.

- (9) When a petition is an appeal against the order of a local Government refusing to grant or to recommend a special pension or any pecuniary or other concession not claimable under a law or rule, or a compassionate pension, unless in the last case the petition is from an officer dismissed or removed from Government service, who under these rules has a right of appeal against the substantive order of dismissal or removal.

- (10) When a petition is an appeal against a decision which by any law or rule having the force of law is declared to be final.

- (11) When a petition is addressed by an officer still in the public service and has reference to his prospective claim for pension, except as provided in article 915 of the Civil Service Regulations.

- (12) When a petition is an appeal against the non-exercise by the local Government of a discretion vested in it by law or rule.

- (13) When a petition is an application in a case for which the law provides a different or specific remedy, or in regard to which the time limited by law for making the application has been exceeded.

- (14) When a petition is an appeal against an order or decision of the local Government, and is made more than six months after the communication of such order or decision to the petitioner without satisfactory explanation of the delay.

- (15) When a petition relates to a subject on which the local Government is competent to pass orders and no previous application for redress has been made to the local Government.

- (16) When a petition makes a proposal regarding legislation which the local Government is not prepared to support.

12. If a petition is withheld, the petitioner should be informed of the fact and the reason for it.

13. A list of petitions withheld under rule 11, with the reasons for withholding them, shall be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the proper department.

No. 536.—The following rules for the submission, receipt and transmission of memorials and other papers of the same class to His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India are published for general information in supersession of the rules published with the Home Department Notification No. 148, dated the 19th January 1905, as amended by subsequent notifications.

RULES REGARDING THE SUBMISSION OF MEMORIALS AND OTHER PAPERS OF THE SAME CLASS TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

N.B.—These rules do not in any way affect or supersede orders issued on the same subject by the military authorities for the guidance of the army.

I.—No memorial will be received or attended to unless forwarded as hereinafter prescribed.

II.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India should contain all material statements and arguments relied upon by the memorialist and be complete in itself; and it should be accompanied by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

III.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India should be presented through the local Government having jurisdiction in respect of the subject-matter of the memorial. In cases where no local Government is in a position to deal with the subject-matter of the memorial, it should be presented through the local Government within whose jurisdiction the memorialist is or has last been residing or employed or, if there is no local Government answering to these descriptions, then through the Government of India.

The Railway Board is regarded as the local Government in respect of memorials from persons subordinate to it.

IV.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India presented through the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal should be forwarded direct by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, except in the case of a memorial which—

(a) relates to—

- (i) any rule or standing order of the Government of India; or
- (ii) any Legislative Proceedings of the Governor-General in Council or an Act to which the Governor-General has assented; or
- (iii) a case which has been previously under the consideration of the Government of India, whether on appeal or otherwise; or

(b) if granted, would cause expenditure for which the Imperial and not the local Government would be primarily responsible.

Every such memorial should be forwarded with a covering letter containing a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the Secretary of State* for India.

V.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India presented through a local Government, other than the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal, should be forwarded by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the authority addressed.†

VI.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India from a person who has been employed in the army should, if it relates to a military subject, be forwarded through the Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commander under whose jurisdiction the memorialist has served. The Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commander will forward it with a full statement of facts and an expression of his opinion to the Government of India in the Army Department for transmission to the authority addressed.‡

VII.—A memorial may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet, and must conclude with a specific prayer.

* "In the case of memorials and petitions against, or regarding, Acts passed by the Legislative Council of the Governor General, the Legislative Department is to be considered to be the department having cognizance of the subject-matter of the memorial. Such memorials will be transmitted to His Majesty's Secretary of State through that department; and to it should be referred all memorials of the kind now described, which may reach any other department of the Government of India. The Legislative Department will, when necessary, consult the executive department concerned before disposing of, or transmitting, such memorials."—Home Department No. ^{22 Public} 224—1001, dated the 24th May 1878.

Memorials involving questions relating to pensions, gratuities, allowances, and the like, should be forwarded through the Government of India.—Home Department Notification No. 5153, dated 10th September 1901.

† Appeals by private persons from the orders of Lieutenant-Governors or Chief Commissioners lie, in the first instance, to the Governor General in Council. An appeal to the Secretary of State will lie only in the event of an appeal to the Governor General in Council having been rejected.

‡ Appeals by individuals from the orders of the Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commanders lie, in the first instance, to the Governor General in Council and thereafter to the Secretary of State.

VIII.—Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English.* If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist.

N. B.—It will be well for the transmitting office to examine such translations, and if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, to notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

IX.—It is not necessary that memorials should be forwarded in duplicate or triplicate. The originals will invariably be transmitted to England a copy being made and retained by the Government of India, if necessary, for record.

X.—As a general rule, the transmission to England of a memorial duly forwarded through the proper channel should not be delayed by the transmitting Government in India beyond a month after the receipt of the memorial.

XI.—The Governments in India are vested with discretionary power to withhold the transmission of memorials addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India in the following cases :—

- (1) When a memorial is illegible or unintelligible.
- (2) When a memorial contains disrespectful or improper language.
- (3) When a second memorial is presented after a decision has already been given by the authority to which it is addressed, and when no new facts or circumstances are adduced which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case. A memorial addressed to His Majesty by a person whose appeal to the Secretary of State for India has already been rejected, shall be held to be a second memorial to the same authority, and shall not be transmitted.
- (4) When a memorial is a mere application for relief, pecuniary or other, which is presented by a person manifestly possessing no claim or advancing a claim of an obviously unsubstantial character, or is so belated that its consideration is clearly impossible.
- (5) When a memorial is an application for employment under one of the Governments in India from a person not in the service of the Government or is a request for exemption from the provisions of any law or rule prescribing the qualifications to be possessed by persons in the service of Government or by persons engaging in any profession or employment.
- (6) When a memorial is an appeal against the discharge of a person appointed in India on probation, if his discharge was ordered before the termination of his probation.
- (7) When a memorial is a mere appeal from a judicial decision.

NOTE.—If the memorial is practically an appeal for mercy or pardon, or contains such an appeal, it must be transmitted, unless it falls under Rule XII, or unless the case is one of which the local Government or the Government of India are competent to dispose on their own responsibility under the orders contained in the Home Department letter No. 1126-37, dated the 10th September 1915.

* "As it frequently happens that the disposal of vernacular petitions presented to the Government of India is delayed owing to their being unaccompanied by English translations, and as local Governments and Administrations have greater facilities for translating the vernacular in use under their different provinces than the Government of India have, I am directed to request that, in order to avoid inconvenience and delay, all vernacular petitions transmitted by a local Government and Administration to the Government of India may invariably be accompanied by an English translation.

2. It should, however, be clearly understood that it is not the intention of the Governor General in Council that any petition presented for transmission to the Government of India or the Secretary of State should be refused by reason of its being in the vernacular or because it is unaccompanied by a translation. The great majority of the population do not know English, and cannot obtain the services of an English petition-writer; and it is most undesirable that in a country like India the free right of petition should be curtailed. But as the languages of India are many and diverse it is desirable that any vernacular petition or memorial forwarded to supreme authority by or through a local Government should be accompanied by an English translation."—Home Department No. 54—2086-95 (Public), dated the 21st November 1878.

- (8)* When a memorial is an appeal against the appellate order of a local Government upholding a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 250 a month; or when it is an appeal against the order of the Government of India upholding on appeal a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 500 a month.

NOTE 1.—If the appellate order of the local Government or the Government of India modifies the order appealed against to the disadvantage of the appellant such appellate order should, for the purposes of this rule, be regarded as an original order of the Local Government or the Government of India and the appeal should be transmitted.

NOTE 2.—The local Government or the Government of India should, for the purposes of this rule, be considered to have upheld a decision if it modifies the order appealed against to the advantage of the appellant.

NOTE 3.—The words “appellate order” include any order passed on revision.

NOTE 4.—For the purposes of the latter part of this rule, an order of the Government of India upholding a decision of the Railway Board should be regarded as an original order of the Government of India, and the appeal should be transmitted.

- (9) When a memorial is an appeal against a decision, which by any law or rule having the force of law, is declared to be final.
- (10) When a memorial is addressed by an officer still in the public service and has reference to his prospective claim to pension.
- (11) When a memorial is a mere appeal against the non-exercise by one of the Governments in India of a discretion vested in such Government by law or rule.
- (12) When a memorial is an appeal against the action of a private individual or of a body of private individuals regarding the private relations of the memorialist and such individual or body.
- (13) When a memorial is an appeal against the order of a local Government or of the Government of India refusing to grant or to recommend a special pension or any pecuniary or other concession not claimable under any law or rule, or a compassionate pension, unless in the last case the memorial is from an officer dismissed or removed from Government service, who under these rules has a right of appeal against the substantive order of dismissal or removal.
- (14) When a memorial makes a proposal regarding legislation which a local Government or the Government of India are not prepared to support.
- (15) When a memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that a local Government or the Government of India may, at their discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute or other good cause is shown.

* “The Governor General in Council considers that the discretionary power of withholding petitions under Clause 8, Rule XIII of the rules for the submission, receipt, and transmission of memorials and other papers of the same class addressed to His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India, by private persons or by officers of all civil Departments should be used with caution, and only after full consideration of the facts in each case. Having regard to the constitution and character of the Indian subordinate services, dismissal of Government officials often involves serious distress, if not actual ruin, to them, and it is right that, under such circumstances, every opportunity should be allowed to them of making themselves heard. Further, when, as sometimes happens, their representations reach the Secretary of State through non-official channels, it is convenient that he should be in a position at once to deal with them instead of being obliged, as may now be the case, to refer for information to this country. Such petitions, therefore, should not be withheld when there is any reasonable prospect of difference of opinion as to the order passed on them by the Government of India, or when they contain anything to which the attention of the Secretary of State is likely to be especially directed.”—Home Department Resolution No. 1438 (Public), dated the 24th September 1880.

Provided that, subject to what is said in clauses (1), (2), (3) and (15), no appeal to the Secretary of State by an officer appointed by him, irrespective of the rate of pay drawn, shall be withheld when the appeal involves a question of the interpretation of the terms of the officer's engagement.

XII.—The Government of India may withhold the transmission of a memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India unless the memorialist has previously memorialised the Government of India and the local Government concerned on the same subject; and the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal may withhold the transmission of a memorial which under rule IV they are authorized to forward direct, unless the memorialist has previously memorialised the local Government concerned on the same subject: provided that, when the memorial is one for pardon which no authority in India has power to grant, it should be addressed to His Majesty and forwarded to the Secretary of State for India.

XIII.—When a memorial is withheld, the memorialist should be informed of the fact and of the reason for it.

XIV.—A list of memorials withheld under the discretionary power conferred by rules XI and XII, with the reasons for withholding them, will be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the case of memorials withheld by local Governments, and by the Government of India in the department concerned to the Secretary of State for India.

The 1st July, 1916.

RESOLUTION—No. 334T.—EMI.

READ—

The Annual Report on Emigration from the Port of Calcutta to British and Foreign Colonies during the year 1915.

THOUGH emigration was resumed in the year under review, the effect of the European War was again marked and shortage of tonnage prevented more than half of the colonial demand being satisfied. Apart from this the chief feature of the year was the discontinuance of recruitment for Surinam and the delegation to the Protector of Emigrants of the power vested in the Local Government to grant licenses to Masters of emigrant vessels.

2. As in previous years three agencies represented the British colonies, but this year the Dutch Agency for Surinam ceased to work. The demand for labour increased from 5,132½ in 1914 to 5,846 in the year under review, but owing to the lack of steamers the supply fell from 2,508 to 2,314, of which Fiji secured more than half.

3. The number of licenses issued to recruiters in 1915 was 556, or 87 less than in the year 1914, two-thirds of the decrease being due to the suspension of the Surinam Agency's operations. Sixteen recruiters' licenses, including two granted in 1914, were cancelled during the year, misconduct being the cause in 12 cases against 32 in the previous year.

4. As in 1914, recruiting operations were conducted in Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Ajmere, the Central Provinces and the United Provinces, but no emigrants were recruited in the Punjab. The total number of emigrants registered was 5,975, or 830 more than in 1914. The majority (91·40 per cent.) came as usual from the United Provinces, the Basti, Gonda, Gorakhpur and Fyzabad districts supplying the largest numbers.

5. Of the 5,968 emigrants admitted in the sub-depôts and in the central depôt at Benares, 1,858 were rejected on medical examination as unfit to emigrate, and of the rest, 3,151 arrived at the Calcutta depôts. This number was subsequently reduced by rejections, releases and other causes to 2,952, of whom 2,438 were shipped during the year and 514 were left for subsequent despatch.

6. The sanitary arrangements in the depôts were good. The total number of emigrants admitted to hospital was 336, of whom five died as against 230 admissions and 18 deaths in 1914, the mortality among the depôt population shewing a satisfactory decrease of 31 per cent. over the figure for the previous year.

7. During the year, 1,155 emigrants left the colonies, of whom 112 brought savings amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 2,12,157, the average for each emigrant being Rs. 183 as compared with Rs. 151 in 1914. On the other hand, 1,043 emigrants, including 783 adults, came back without any savings. Remittances from emigrants resident in the colonies showed a general decrease in the case of all the colonies except Mauritius, from which a sum of Rs. 1,55,527, or Rs. 16,315 more than in 1914, was remitted to this country during the year. Natal, however, again remitted the largest sum, despite a fall of Rs. 37,710 as compared with the preceding year, but the amount sent again probably includes remittances from traders as well as labourers.

8. One hundred and eighty-nine estates of deceased emigrants, valued at Rs. 13,692, were administered by Government during the year. Of these the heirs of 76 were traced, 65 lapsed to the Indian and Colonial Governments, and the remainder were under enquiry at the end of the year. The Emigration accounts closed with a deficit of Rs. 20,116 due to the falling off of receipts from embarkation fees in consequence of the decrease in the number of emigrants shipped.

9. Dr. Banks held the post of Protector of Emigrants throughout the year, and the thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him for the efficient manner in which he carried out his duties.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. DONALD,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE TENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BENGAL SMOKE NUISANCES COMMISSION FOR 1915-16.

No. 1766 Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 4th July 1916.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Bengal Smoke Nuisances Commission for the year 1915-16.

TWELVE ordinary meetings and one special meeting were held by the Commission during the year 1915-16.

2. The Inspectors made 11,891 observations of smoke emission against 9,101 during the previous year and visited 5,236 factories, examining power plant, instructing firemen and testing fuel appliances.

3. The average emission of smoke of the greatest density was observed to have been reduced from 1'66 minutes in the hour during the preceding year to 1'4 minutes in the year under report. This figure again constitutes a record.

4. The Commission have done much towards the abatement of the smoke nuisance in and around Calcutta. Difficulties have, however, been experienced in dealing with various forms of the nuisance under the Act of 1905, and proposals for the amendment of the Act were under consideration during the year. There was some controversy over one amendment, the object of which is the prevention of the nuisance caused by the emission of dense smoke by ocean-going steamers in the port of Calcutta. The Governor in Council acknowledges with pleasure the co-operation of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and of their representative on the Bengal Legislative Council, the Hon'ble Mr. E. H. Bray, whereby an agreement, acceptable to the mercantile community and to Government, has been arrived at. The Bill to amend the Act of 1905, embodying the proposed amendments, received the assent of the Governor-General in Council during the year, and the amended Act came into force from the 5th April last. His Excellency trusts that, with the co-operation of owners and agents of vessels and the judicious working of the new rule, the present excessive emission of smoke, which is detrimental to health, will be reduced to reasonable limits.

The other amendments of the Act, which experience has shown to be necessary, and the amended rules issued under the Act, will, it is hoped, enable the Commission to check more effectively than at present the nuisance caused by the emission of offensive smoke.

5. Forty-two complaints were received by the Commission against 28 in the previous year, and satisfactory relief was promptly given where possible. The greater number of complaints shows the increasing interest and confidence of the public in the Commission.

6. Ten certificates of competency as stokers were granted after the requisite examination, against 29 in 1914-15. The reduction in the number of candidates is attributed to unsettled circumstances consequent on the war.

7. Two hundred and thirty-one electric motors were installed, against 182 during the previous year. A more extensive use of electricity and gas for power and heating purposes was noticed, and is encouraging as likely to reduce to some extent the emission of smoke.

8. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the public for their continued co-operation in the work of the Commission and to the President and Members of the Commission for their efficient administration of the Act and the rules issued thereunder.

The thanks of Government are also due to Mr. G. Robertson, whose expert advice has been of great assistance to the Commission and the Government, and who has held the post of Secretary to the Commission since the commencement of its work in 1906 until his recent departure on leave preparatory to retirement.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, the President of the Smoke Nuisances Commission, the Commissioners of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions, the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, the Chairman, Calcutta Corporation, the Vice-Chairman, Port Commissioners, Calcutta, the Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Master, Calcutta Trades Association, the Honorary Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, the Chairman of the City Improvement Trust, Calcutta, and the Municipal Department of this Government.

Ordered, also, that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

C. P. WALSH.

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON FAMINE AND SCARCITY IN THE DISTRICTS OF BANKURA AND TIPPERA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 24TH JUNE, 1916.

IN the Bankura district the state of affairs in affected areas is generally unchanged. The rainfall is general. The cultivation for winter and autumn crops is progressing. The condition of people on relief-works is generally good. The relief measures are adequate. Loans are being freely advanced. Private charitable funds are giving relief. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief-works was 12,785, and in receipt of gratuitous relief 24,090—total 36,875. The increase in the number of persons on relief-works was due to return to normal condition from the drop in the preceding week, which drop was due to heavy rain making relief-works impossible in places and increasing demand for agricultural labour. Three thousand eight hundred and ninety-two persons were relieved on private works.

In the Tippera district the rain fell in the Brahmanbaria subdivision during the week, but the weather was very dry. Harvesting of aus paddy sown in March is proceeding, but outturn is not good. Public health is good. The price of rice is 7 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief-works was 3,071, and in receipt of gratuitous relief 6,480—total 9,551. The increase in the number of persons gratuitously relieved was due to increase of distress which will be relieved on the reaping of autumn rice crop in July.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF ADEN.

2. On the outbreak of war with Turkey, on 31st October 1914, reports indicated that the Turks were in some strength in the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula and that they were preparing to despatch troops to act against the Aden Protectorate. Consequently on November 3rd orders were issued to Brigadier General H. V. Cox, C.B., C.S.I., Commanding 29th Indian Infantry Brigade, then on the voyage to Suez, to capture Shaikh Sa'id and destroy the Turkish works, armaments and wells at that place. Three battalions from the 29th Indian Infantry Brigade and the 23rd Sikh Pioneers were detailed for this operation, in which H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" co-operated.

On November 10th the transport conveying the force arrived off the coast of the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula, but adverse weather conditions prevented a landing at the point first selected. While the transports were moving to an alternative landing place, H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" engaged the Turkish defences with satisfactory results.

Covered by the fire of the naval guns, a landing was effected, all opposition encountered was overcome and the enemy were driven inland, abandoning their field guns. On November 11th, Turbah Fort and other Turkish works in the vicinity were destroyed by the troops and a naval demolition party, and the force, having effected its object, re-embarked.

In forwarding his report on these operations, General Cox brings to notice the valuable assistance received by him in the disembarkation and re-embarkation of his force from Captain H. Blackett, R.N., H.M.S. "Duke of Edinburgh," and all under his command.

For some time after the operations described above, the Turks did not show signs of advancing with a view to attacking Aden: but their presence on the northern boundary of the Protectorate rendered it desirable to strengthen somewhat the garrison of Aden.

Shaikh Sa'id was again occupied by the enemy, and on the night of June 14th-15th, 1915, he endeavoured to effect a landing on the north coast of the island of Perim. This attack was successfully driven off by the detachment, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, which formed the garrison of the island, under the command of Captain A. G. C. Hutchinson.

3. During May 1915 the enemy was reported to be becoming more active and during the latter half of June, reports indicated a possible Turkish advance on Lahaj from Mawiyah. On definite information being received that such an advance was about to be made, Major-General D. G. L. Shaw, Commanding Aden Brigade, ordered the Aden Moveable Column, under Lieutenant-Colonel H. F. A. Pearson, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, to move out to Shaikh 'Othman on the evening of the 3rd July.

Early the following morning the advance was continued to Lahaj, to which place the Aden Troop had previously been despatched. The intense heat, sand and shortage of water rendered the march and the subsequent operations most trying, but nevertheless the advanced guard reached their objective, and engaged the Turks just beyond Lahaj on the evening of the 4th July.

But the desertion of the hired camels and the severe climatic conditions so delayed and distressed the main body as to necessitate a withdrawal from Lahaj to Khor Maksar on July 5th.

In recording this, Major-General Shaw pays a tribute to the devotion to duty of the men of the Royal Artillery, who effected the withdrawal of their guns under the most trying conditions.

4. On the withdrawal of the Aden Moveable Column to the Khor Maksar line the Turks occupied Shaikh 'Othman, and it was decided to increase temporarily the Aden garrison.

On July 20th, the 28th (Frontier Force) Brigade, with a battery Royal Horse Artillery and a detachment of Sappers and Miners, afterwards reinforced by another battery and the Aden Troop, the whole under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force), moved out of Aden to attack the enemy next morning. The Turks, completely surprised, were expelled from Shaikh 'Othman. Their casualties were some 50-60, in addition to several hundred prisoners, mostly Arabs.

On August 24th, a small column under the command of Major W. J. Ottley, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, engaged the garrison of the Turkish post of Fiyush and forced the enemy to retire on Lahaj.

Again on August 28th a similar successful reconnaissance was made towards Waht.

In September, reports indicated that the Turks were preparing to retire from Lahaj; a column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force), was therefore directed to ascertain the situation at Waht. On September 25th, this column surprised the enemy, estimated at 700 Turks with 8 guns and 1,000 Arabs, and seized and occupied Waht.

Major-General Sir G. J. Younghusband, K.C.I.E., C.B., who was commanding the Aden Brigade during a portion of the period when these operations took place, brings to notice the great assistance he received on all occasions both by sea and land from Captain Hall Thompson, R.N., H.M.S. "Philomel".

5. In October, and again in December, our cavalry have had small affairs with hostile reconnoitring parties, in which the latter were driven off with loss and in December, friendly Arabs, supported by a small infantry detachment, drove off a hostile Turkish and Arab force which was advancing on 'Imad.

Owing to the Turks despatching troops to coerce the tribes in the East of the Aden Protectorate, a demonstration in support of these tribes was made by the Aden Moveable Column on January 12th, 1916, in the direction of Subar. The column located a Turkish force near Subar and engaged it, inflicting considerable losses on it. As a result of this action the Turkish pressure on the Arab tribes is reported to have been relieved.

OPERATIONS IN THE GULF OF 'OMAN.

6. Arab unrest, which had been growing in 'Oman for some time past, culminated on the night of 10th-11th January 1915 in an attack by some 3,000 Arab rebels against our outpost line covering Masqat and Matrah. In the early morning of the 11th January, the whole available British force under the command of Colonel S. M. Edwardes, D.S.O., 102nd King Edward's Own Grenadiers, took the offensive and defeated and drove back the rebels who fled into the interior having suffered losses estimated at over 300 killed and wounded.

Colonel Edwardes brings to notice the very valuable assistance rendered by Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. E. Benn, Political Agent, Masqat.

7. On the night of the 16th-17th April 1915, a raid against the British post at Jask by disaffected tribesmen was successfully repulsed by the garrison under the command of Major W. H. Lane, 95th Russell's Infantry.

8. On the night of 2nd-3rd May 1915, a body of tribesmen made a determined attack on the British post at Chahbar commanded by Lieutenant C. M. Maltby, 95th Russell's Infantry. The attack was driven off with loss.

SISTAN.

9. Owing to the activities of certain Germans and other enemy subjects in Persia during the latter half of 1915, it was found necessary to strengthen our outposts on the borders of Sistan.

The troops under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Wikeley, 28th Light Cavalry, have successfully carried out their orders and co-operated effectively with the Russian forces.

OPERATIONS IN BALUCHISTAN.

10. On May 28th, 1914, reports were received that the Khan of Kalat's treasury at Khozdar, 110 miles south of Kalat, had been looted. Owing to the insubordinate attitude of Sardar Khan Muhammad, premier chief of Jhalawan, who was responsible for this outrage, it was thought that the trouble might spread. Military assistance was asked for by the Agent to the Governor General and, with the approval of His Excellency the Viceroy, I accordingly authorized the despatch of a small column consisting of the 106th Hazara Pioneers and a section of Sappers and Miners, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. LeG. Jacob, C.I.E., D.S.O., 106th Hazara Pioneers, to deal with the situation. The column reached Kalat on June 4th and subsequently visited certain neighbouring places. The presence of the troops rapidly restored order and prevented any spread of the disturbance; the rebel chief was declared outlaw by a jirgah of Kalat sirdars and fled. The column arrived back at Quetta on July 19th.

In reporting these operations Lieutenant-General Sir M. H. S. Grover, K.C.B., K.C.I.E., Commanding 4th Quetta Division, states that the troops made some very good marches at a trying season of the year.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

The Tochi Valley and Derajat.

11. During October and November 1914, various reports were received that attempts were being made to stir up fanaticism along the frontier.

* Owing to Lieutenant-Colonel Jacob falling sick, the command was taken over by Major G. L. Carter, 106th Hazara Pioneers.

At the end of November 1914, certain influential mullahs in independent territory led a Khostwal lashkar of some 2,000 men to the neighbourhood of Miranshah in the Tochi Valley.

On November 29th, a portion of the North Waziristan Militia under Major G. B. Scott attacked the enemy and, in a skilfully fought action, inflicted a severe defeat on the tribesmen, who fled in a demoralised condition.

Meanwhile, on the news of the gathering being received, I had arranged for the despatch of suitable reinforcements to Bannu and Thal and had directed the General Officer Commanding, Derajat Brigade, to reinforce Tank at his discretion.

Major-General H. O'Donnell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding the Bannu Brigade, whose services I have already brought to notice, had proceeded up the Tochi Valley with the Moveable Column and had reached Miranshah on December 3rd. At the request of the Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, the column did not proceed beyond Miranshah.

The prompt and vigorous action of the North Waziristan Militia checked what might have been a serious rising.

Further reports of hostile gatherings, which threatened the Tochi posts, necessitated the retention of additional troops on this border during December and part of January, but a march carried out by the 4th Brigade along the Bannu border, south-west of Bannu, at the end of December 1914 had a quieting effect.

On January 7th, 1915, operations were carried out by the Bannu Moveable Column and a portion of the North Waziristan Militia with a view to defeating a large Khostwal lashkar that had crossed into British territory and attacked Spina Khaisora post.

Of the British Forces, only the North Waziristan Militia were actually engaged with the enemy, but the operations were successful, the enemy losing some 50—60 men killed and being driven in confusion over the frontier. In his report on the above action Major-General O'Donnell states that great credit is due to the North Waziristan Militia for the dash and spirit they displayed in the action against great odds and after a long march.

For his most conspicuous bravery in this action, in attempting at the cost of his life to rescue one of his men, Captain E. Jotham, 51st Sikhs (Frontier Force), was awarded the Victoria Cross.

Although some further gatherings were reported, I was able, on January 11th, to order the withdrawal of most of the extra troops that had been sent to this portion of the frontier, leaving sufficient to ensure its safeguarding.

Early in March 1915, reports of hostile gatherings intended to attack the Tochi posts, and the alleged presence of a Mahsud lashkar again compelled me to order troops to concentrate on the Derajat, Bannu and Kohat borders.

On March 26th, 1915, the Bannu Moveable Column, together with a portion of the North Waziristan Militia, the whole under the command of Brigadier-General V. B. Fane, C.B., whose services I have already brought to notice, moved out from Miranshah and attacked a large Khostwal lashkar estimated at 7,000 to 8,000 men, which was threatening that place.

The attack was entirely successful. The enemy's losses were estimated at 200 killed and 300 wounded and they retreated rapidly across the frontier.

Our success was largely due to the skilful manner in which a column under Major G. B. Scott, Commandant, North Waziristan Militia, by means of a night march gained a position in rear of the enemy in time to combine with the frontal attack.

Brigadier-General Fane brings to notice the name of Mr. J. A. O. Fitzpatrick, I.C.S., Political Agent, Tochi, who assisted him with sound advice and good information.

12. With the exception of raiding, this portion of the frontier remained quiet until October 1915, when unrest among the Mahsuds necessitated precautions being taken in the Derajat Brigade area.

A militia piquet was attacked on November 12th and on the 18th a detachment of the 45th Rattray's Sikhs on piquetting duty near Khajuri Kach in the Gomal was fired upon by some 80—100 Mahsuds. The enemy was driven off and fled and the convoy proceeded to its destination in safety.

Brigadier-General F. J. Fowler, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding the Derajat Brigade, states that the detachment behaved very well indeed and maintained the high reputation of their regiment.

The successful operations mentioned above, combined with pressure brought to bear upon the Mahsuds by the civil authorities, has prevented any tribal outbreaks on a considerable scale, but raiding has been constant, which has necessitated constant vigilance and action on the part of the troops.

Mohmands, Swat and Buner.

13. Towards the end of 1914 information was received of anti-British preaching by certain mullahs in the Mohmand country, but, with the exception of a raid in the neighbourhood of Shabkadar in January 1915, which was easily driven off, no serious acts of aggression were committed.

On April 13th, 1915, however, reports were received that the Mohmands were collecting with a view to raiding Shabkadar. The garrison of the Fort was strengthened and the Khaibar Moveable Column, under the command of Major-General C. F. G. Young, was ordered to proceed there forthwith. At the same time I issued orders for certain troops to be held in readiness to reinforce the 1st Peshawar Division and took other measures necessary to deal with the situation.

Reconnaissances on April 16th and 17th located no hostile gatherings, but on April 18th the tribesmen attempted to advance, and were met by the troops under Major-General Young near Hafiz Kor. In the action which ensued the hostile lashkar rapidly increased to some 2,400 men, but its advance was repulsed with loss and it was forced back into the hills. Darkness prevented any pursuit.

Major-General C. J. Blomfield, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, was present throughout the action and comments on the keenness and excellent spirit of the troops.

In reporting these operations Major-General Blomfield records his gratitude for the benefit he received from the experience, knowledge and helpfulness of the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province.

Quiet on the frontier then enabled the troops to be withdrawn from the vicinity of the border, although the attitude of the mullahs in Mohmand country, Buner and Bajaur necessitated constant watchfulness.

14. During May the Swatis had been engaged in inter-tribal quarrels, but on June 18th the situation in Upper Swat, where the advance of a lashkar to the Adinzai tract threatened the safety of the Chitral road and Chakdara post, necessitated the concentration at Chakdara of the Malakand Moveable Column, which was under the command of Brigadier-General W. G. L. Beynon, C.B., D.S.O.

The rapid concentration of the troops had an excellent effect and prevented any outbreak.

As quiet reigned in July, during which month the Ramzan fast was observed, I arranged for the Chitral reliefs to be carried out. These were successfully completed on August 4th, but in view of a certain amount of unrest which was reported from Buner, I ordered the returning column to remain at Chakdara with the Malakand Moveable Column, where its presence was of great value during subsequent operations.

15. Gatherings in Buner during July had been reported, but the tribesmen remained quiet until August 15th, when information was received that a certain mullah, known as the Haji Sahib of Turanzai, was in the Ambela Pass with several thousand men, preparing to invade British territory. His gathering included a number of the Hindustani Fanatics, a sect inhabiting the Buner border country.

A small column from Mardan was at once moved to Rustan on the Buner border.

On August 17th, a hostile gathering of some three to four thousand tribesmen debouched from the Ambela Pass and moved towards Rustan, while a further force was reported to be in the neighbouring hills to the north-west.

Brigadier-General S. F. Crocker at once attacked the Ambela Pass gathering and routed it with loss. The 91st Battery, Royal Field Artillery, which came up during the course of the action after a forced march, did great execution.

Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding, 1st Peshawar Division, now concentrated a Brigade, under the Command of Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, at Rustam.

Between August 21st and 31st this brigade took the offensive against the tribesmen whenever they appeared and during this period Brigadier-General Woodyatt was engaged with the enemy on three occasions, on all of which he was successful in driving them back into the hills with loss and destroying the villages in which they had harboured.

16. While these operations were in progress, information was received that on August 20th a tribal gathering of some fifteen to twenty thousand men under the Sandaki mullah was advancing down the left bank of the Swat river to invade Lower Swat. To meet this, Brigadier-General Beynon, Commanding the Malakand Moveable Column at Chakdara, moved his column to the left bank of the river and occupied the Landakai ridge, which was well situated to arrest the hostile advance.

Our outposts were heavily attacked on the night of 28th-29th August, but the enemy were driven off with loss. The next morning the column moved out and destroyed a fort and shelled several villages, which were occupied by the enemy. As a result of these operations the tribesmen, dispersed, and made no further attempts at offensive action for some time.

17. Meanwhile, during August, there had been some talk of jihad on the Mohmand border, where various religious leaders had been active, and large tribal gatherings led by these fanatical mullahs were reported to have collected on August 28th.

Two brigades under Brigadier-General L. C. Dunsterville and Brigadier-General C. Christian, with a mounted column under Brigadier-General S. F. Crocker and Divisional Artillery, were therefore ordered up to the neighbourhood of Shabkadar between August 30th and September 2nd, while a Mobile Column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. B. Longden, 38th Dogras, was formed at Mardan and subsequently moved to Abazai.

At the same time I issued orders for reinforcements to be ready for despatch to this border at short notice, if required.

On September 3rd large bodies of tribesmen were observed moving in the foothills and preparing sangars in the vicinity of Hafiz Kor, but no steps were taken to prevent them collecting as it was desired to entice them out into the plain. By the evening of September 4th it was calculated that the hostile force had reached its maximum strength (it was then about ten thousand) and Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, decided to attack.

The action was fought on the following day; the enemy resisted stoutly and displayed great bravery, tenaciously holding on to their sangars, but were defeated with heavy loss and driven from their position. An opportunity occurred for cavalry action and a successful charge was made against the tribesmen.

Between September 20th and 24th further hostile gatherings were reported on this border and the mullahs made great efforts to stir up their followers to invade British territory. No lashkar, however, crossed the border until early in October, when lashkars, numbering some 9,000 men, again collected in the neighbourhood of Hafiz Kor. Major-General Campbell, who had strengthened his force by another brigade under Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, took the offensive against this gathering on October 8th from Shabkadar.

The enemy offered strong opposition, especially on our right flank, where the Mobile Column from Abazai was co-operating, but were defeated and forced back into the hills. A detachment of the Khaibar Rifles from Fort Michni took part in the fight.

In this operation armoured cars were used for the first time in action in India and proved of great value.

These successful operations brought the unrest among the Mohmands to an end.

18. Although further gatherings were reported in Swat, there was no actual outbreak until October, when the tribesmen again became active. Their lashkars rapidly increased, and on October 26th some 3,000 Bajauris advanced towards Chakdara, with a view to arousing the tribes of Dir and Swat to attack the fort at that place.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. Luard, 1st Battalion, Durham Light Infantry, temporarily commanding the Malakand Moveable Column, at once decided to attack; and moving out from Chakdara Camp on October 27th, he engaged, routed, and pursued the enemy, who were severely handled and lost a standard. As a result of this action there has been no further gathering on this border.

19. In reporting these operations on the Swat, Buner, and Mohmand borders, Major-General Campbell states that he cannot speak too highly of the endurance and conduct of the troops, both British and Indian. The temperature, which is always extremely trying in the Peshawar Valley during the hot weather, was nearly ten degrees above normal; but, in spite of these severe climatic conditions, the troops showed a fine spirit and great cheerfulness and were eager and ready at all times to march and fight. The working of the administrative services was also entirely satisfactory, in spite of the many difficulties that had to be contended with.

Mechanical transport was used for the first time on the Indian frontier and proved to be invaluable; as, without it, the maintenance of the forces in the field could not have been effectively accomplished.

Major-General Campbell cordially acknowledges the ready assistance afforded to him by the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, who kept him informed, frequently by personal interview, of the changes in the political situation and other matters, enabling him to make the necessary dispositions in time to meet each situation as it arose. Sir George Roos-Keppel was present throughout the action at Haliz Kor on September 5th.

General Campbell also gratefully acknowledges the valuable assistance given to military commanders throughout the operations by the following Political Officers in their respective areas:—

H. N. Bolton, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Commissioner, Peshawar.

Major W. J. Keen, I.A., Political Agent, Dir, Swat and Chitral.

Captain J. A. Brett, I.A., Assistant Commissioner, Mardan.

Captain R. E. H. Griffith, I.A., Assistant Political Agent, Mohmand.

In conclusion, General Campbell records his thanks to R. C. Boyle, Esq., Commandant, Frontier Constabulary, and E. C. Handyside, Esq., District Officer, Frontier Constabulary, who, with their officers and corps, at all times closely and usefully associated themselves with the military throughout the operations.

I wish to bring Major-General Campbell's own services to notice.

Black Mountain.

20. In January 1915, unrest among the Chagarzais on the British border at the Black Mountain necessitated the temporary reinforcement of Oghi post by regular troops.

Quiet prevailed until August, when emissaries from Buner endeavoured to stir up the Black Mountain tribes in the cause of jihad.

As a precautionary measure a small column, consisting mainly of a detachment of the troops, whose services had been lent to the Government of India by the Nepal Darbar, was ordered to Oghi and the neighbouring posts, where they remained throughout September. Conditions became normal again in October.

BURMA.

Operations in the Kachin Hills, January and February 1915.

21. Unrest, which had been brewing for some time among the Kachins came to a head in December 1914 and January 1915, when punitive operations were undertaken.

The columns originally consisted of Burma Military Police, but as the disturbance appeared more general and likely to spread, regular troops were ordered up to Myitkyina.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. T. Swan, 64th Pioneers, was placed in command of all operations north of Myitkyina, and Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. H. Lee, 1st-7th Gurkha Rifles, Burma Military Police, was detailed to command all troops and control all operations in the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions. In February, Major-General H. Raitt, C.B., Commanding Burma Division, proceeded to Myitkyina to direct operations.

In the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions, and the adjoining unadministered territory, six columns operated during January and February. The slight opposition encountered was in all cases successfully overcome, the rebel stockades captured, and the implicated villages destroyed.

In the country north of Myitkyina two columns were employed during the latter end of January and throughout February, and these were equally successful in punishing the recalcitrant tribesmen.

The country in which these operations were carried out is of a particularly dense and difficult nature. Major-General Raitt especially commends a night march carried out by a detachment of the 64th Pioneers over intricate country, followed by a successful attack on a rebel village.

In reporting these operations, Major-General Raitt brings to notice Mr. W. Scott, Assistant Superintendent, Kachin Hills, and Major W. B. T. Abbey, I.A., whose local knowledge was of the greatest value; and adds that his special thanks are due to Lieutenant-Colonel S. L. Aplin, I.A., Commissioner, Mandalay Division, whose unfailing tact secured the requisite co-operation between the civil and military officers employed.

MADRAS.

22. The German cruiser "Emden" appeared in the Bay of Bengal in September 1914, and on the night of 22nd-23rd September, this vessel opened fire on the port of Madras. The troops in garrison promptly turned out and engaged the "Emden," the guns causing her to cease fire at once and to sheer off. She made no further attempts on the coasts of India.

In reporting this incident, the Officer Commanding Madras, states that he was afforded great assistance by the Madras Artillery Volunteers, under the command of Major H. H. G. Mitchell. There were also in Madras the Madras Volunteer Guards, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel F. D. Bird, I.S.O., V.D., the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Rifles, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel P. G. Porteous, V.D., and "G" Troop, Southern Provinces Mounted Rifles, commanded by Lieutenant W. J. U. Turnbull. These units, together with His Excellency the Governor's Body-Guard, are reported to have been most prompt in getting to their posts.

He also comments on the good work of Commander W. B. Huddleston, R.I.M.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

23. In August 1915, owing to the activity of Germans in the Far East, certain preventive measures were instituted to safeguard the Indian coasts and to prevent the smuggling into the country of arms and ammunition. These measures were arranged by the General Officers Commanding Karachi Presidency and Rangoon Brigades; His Excellency the Naval Commander-in-Chief, China Station, subsequently taking over control of those in the Bay of Bengal.

24. I desire to take this opportunity of placing on record my sense of obligation to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir R. H. Peirse, K.C.B., M.V.O., Naval Commander-in-Chief, East Indies Station, as also to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir T. H. M. Jerram, K.C.B., and Vice-Admiral W. L. Grant, C.B., Naval Commanders-in-Chief, China Station.

To these officers and to all under their command I am greatly indebted for the very cordial co-operation that I have at all times received from them.

25. Throughout the period dealt with in this despatch all Local Governments and Civil Departments have met my requests promptly and in such a manner as to facilitate greatly the maintenance of the forces in the field. I have also received the greatest assistance from all departments of the Government of India, and I am especially indebted to the officers of the Foreign and Political, Financial and Home Departments, who have spared no pains to give me all the help in their power.

In the many and varied situations, with which I have been called upon to deal, the Marine, Railway, Police, Telegraph, Postal and Port Trust authorities, also Shipping Companies and Chambers of Commerce, have afforded me and those under my command their whole-hearted assistance and have greatly contributed to the bringing to a successful conclusion the various operations.

The Railway Board, and under them the North-Western Railway, carried out the troop movements necessary for the frontier operations efficiently and quickly.

To the Survey of India my thanks are especially due for the never failing supply of maps and topographical information.

26. The Volunteer forces in this country have cordially responded to all calls upon them and commercial firms have patriotically assisted in releasing many of their men for employment in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers. To all the above I desire to express my grateful thanks for the assistance rendered.

27. In conclusion, I attach a list of officers and men, whose names I desire to bring to notice for gallantry or good service in connection with the operations dealt with above.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Sd.) BEAUCHAMP DUFF, General,

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 2.

The President then addressed the Council.

His Excellency the President said :—

“ I am glad to welcome you here. I congratulate each and all of you on having attained, in some cases for the first time, in others once more, to a position which will afford you frequent opportunities of doing good work for Bengal ; and I congratulate myself, as well as you, because I believe you will make good use of those opportunities. I know from past experience how willing many of you have shown yourselves to do anything which you think will further the objects which the Legislative Council is meant to promote, and I feel sure those of you who are new to the Council will prove yourselves no less willing.

The making of long speeches, by the President at least, is not one of those objects, so I shall not say much. I believe I am expected to say something about the modification in the membership of this Council, as compared with the last, which has been brought about by the way in which I have exercised my power of nomination. I have only asked three instead of five Secretaries to Government to serve on this Council and I have not nominated the Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners. I quite appreciate the good work which all the Secretaries and the Vice-Chairman did in the last Council. I know their absence may sometimes, perhaps often, be of inconvenience to Government. I know how valuable to Government even a single safe vote in a division may be and I know that my action has made it more easy for the non-officials to defeat Government whenever they wish to do so. I know all these things, and I know too that it will not be easy for my successor, if he should wish it, to raise the number of officials to what it was. But I made the modification deliberately. It is true that legislation will always affect the officials. It is true in any country, and especially in this country, that Government officials, if they are worth their salt, must often have a correcter view than almost any other class as to the probable effect of legislation—that I grant—but a Governor, I am glad to think, can at all times have frank advice and criticism from his officers ; what he can't always get so easily is frank advice and criticism from those who look at things from an unofficial point of view. People tell me we get criticism from the public press. We do, and I am thankful for it. We cannot have too much of it—if only we have time to read it ; and if our critics take the trouble to be accurate as to facts, and, what is perhaps even more important, not to suppress any facts, they can help Government very much indeed. But newspaper editors and Government officials have this in common : they must both, if they are to perform their function well, be to a great extent collectors of voices, they must think of those whom they serve, and they must therefore often—though from different points of view—underrate the importance of some point to an individual or to a group of individuals ; for this reason, it seems to me, a Governor will always wish to have on his Council as many gentlemen as possible who, he believes, will not shrink from pointing out where the executive may be liable to make mistakes ; and if he can, in choosing those gentlemen choose men who, from personal experience or interest, are not likely to overlook matters to which Government may, however unintentionally, not give due weight, a Governor will be wise to choose them.

As to future legislation I must tell you frankly that I fear that there can be little in which I shall have to ask you to help me. I hope my successor will be able to get your help in carrying out important work in that line. But in view of the policy which has been deliberately laid down for India of not dealing with controversial matters, while the war goes on, we cannot take up the matters which you probably are most interested in. As many of you know, I was very anxious to see an Act passed, while I was here, to improve the Calcutta Corporation. I had hoped that that would have kept you pretty fully occupied during the next nine months. But such a measure must be controversial. We may possibly be able to introduce a Bill—perhaps even we may be able to refer it to a Select Committee, but there is no chance of my seeing it passed. One Bill you may rely on my doing my best to bring in and pass, though it is not ready yet—a Bill to give the control of their own small local affairs to people resident in the country districts, in a way which I believe will promote a feeling of common responsibility. Those of you who have taken the trouble to read (and I hope many of you have done so) the report of the Bengal District Administration Committee will know the lines on which I believe very real progress towards self-government may be made. I hope a Bill may soon be ready and I hope it may turn out to be sufficiently acceptable to avoid the necessity of our putting it on one side as too controversial. Of course that is not for me to determine. Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but I shall be very sorry if we cannot take a step which it seems to me will do a very great deal to help Bengal to help itself.

Now I am all but done ; but unfortunately before I sit down I must refer to a matter about which I have more than once spoken in this room. The murder committed a few days ago in Calcutta has given one more proof of the courage and devotion to duty of our Bengali Police officers ; but it shows us that Government have not yet succeeded in overcoming the organization which many of our people were quite naturally and quite properly so unwilling to believe existed, in spite of evidence, and which is doing so much harm to Bengal.

Last April I told you briefly what Government were doing and of the steps which we were taking—steps which we were only able to take because of the exceptional and temporary legislation which the Government of India have passed. Fifty-one cases were then pending ; there were 51 men about whom Government had not at that moment received full enough information to determine how to deal with them : two of those men were released, the other 49 were compulsorily domiciled. Up to this moment the total number of men, whom Government have compulsorily domiciled because we felt that it was our duty to the people under our charge not to leave those men, in view of the evidence against them, to go and come as they like, is 190. Those 190 men are actually in the places assigned to them ; there are orders out against 12 more men who are absconding ; and the fact that they are absconding does not lead me to think that in issuing our orders we have been unduly rigorous.

In addition to this, action has, up to the present time, been taken against 21 other men under Regulation 3 of 1818.

On the 4th April last, I told my Council that 4 persons had been expelled from the Province. Since then 3 others have been expelled.

I can assure you that Government believe they have been fully justified in all they have done. We may of course have made mistakes in some cases, but we have interfered with the liberty of no one against whom we did not feel that there is evidence—though we admit it is not evidence which ought to lead to conviction in an ordinary court of law.

One other point I must impress on you, for a wrong impression prevails about it ; it is not the case that we have dealt with these men only because we believe they have all been concerned in a German conspiracy. In many cases—in the vast majority of cases of those who are compulsorily domiciled—we do not think these men were plotting to help Germany. We have acted as the Defence of India Act empowered us to act, and we have used the power which the Government of India when passing that Act expressly said was needed in Bengal.

We shall go on using that power as long as we believe it is necessary to use it. This last week has clearly shown that the time has not yet come when we can say it is no longer necessary. Other and greater powers might have been more effective, but we have to use the powers we have got, and we shall continue to use them—not harshly I hope, but justly. I honestly believe that those powers have been of real use to us. It is my firm conviction that if we had not had them, Bengal would just now have been in a far worse plight than she is.

But we must not forget that the powers which we can exercise now are only temporary, and we must remember that the disaffection which led to crime existed before the war, and may continue to exist long after the war ends. Government must face facts. Government must aim at removing, where they can, the disaffection; that is the most important thing, and it is in that that I particularly hope my successor, if not I myself, will get very great help from you, the Members of Council; but Government must aim too at putting down with a firm hand, if need be, the crime, one of whose worst features is that it makes it harder for us to do some things which I hope may yet go far to remove the disaffection.

How far the powers, permanent or temporary, which we have, meet our needs we are gradually learning. It is one of the plainest duties of Government to consider this, and I can promise you that if Government believe they ought to have greater powers than they have, they will try to get them, and I can promise you that meantime we shall go on making the best use we can of the powers we have."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 3.

THE CALCUTTA HACKNEY-CARRIAGE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1916.

The Hon'ble Nawab Sir Syed Shams-ul-Huda moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1891.

He said :—

"My Lord, the present Act is Bengal Act II of 1891. It originally extended to Calcutta but has been extended under section 1, sub-section (3), to almost every town in Bengal where carriages and palanquins are in general use. 'Twenty-five years' experience of the working of the Act has brought out many defects which the present Bill is intended to remove. I shall only mention three of the more important provisions here. The first that came to our notice is that one of the defects of the existing Act is its inelasticity. Under section 5, the classes of hackney-carriages are rigidly fixed and so also the fares under section 31. The present Bill omits both these provisions from the Act and allows them to be regulated by by-laws framed under section 53. The second matter is one of considerable importance. Section 10 of the Act provides for annual registration. Experience has shown that after registration carriages are allowed to fall into a state of disrepair, notwithstanding the provisions of section 11 giving power to the Registering Officer to suspend or cancel licenses. To enable this power to be effectually exercised, the Bill provides for compulsory production of carriages with horses and harness used therewith within a week after expiration of six months from the date of annual registration.

Under the present Act, in the absence of any means of identifying horses, the same animals are brought up over and over again harnessed to different carriages. When the registration is over, other animals are substituted which would have probably not been passed by the Registering Officer if they had been produced before him. To prevent this a new chapter 11A has been introduced by clause 8 of the Bill in order to facilitate identification of horses. The means of identification will be prescribed by by-laws.

Besides the above, the following important provisions have been made in the Act. Provision has been made for effective check on carriages plying for hire after the registration of such carriages or the licenses of the drivers have been suspended under section 11.

Owners of carriages who allow a driver who has not obtained a license or whose license has expired or has been cancelled or suspended to drive a carriage in violation of such an order have been penalised.

To prevent a driver's license being granted to unsuitable persons, the age-limit has been raised from 16 to 18, competency to drive the carriage, a knowledge of the locality, sober habits and want of previous conviction for offence, which in the opinion of the Registering Officer is a disqualification, have been insisted upon as necessary conditions for the grant of a driver's license.

When a driver is convicted, warned or reprimanded for an offence under the Hackney-carriage Act, it has been made compulsory on Magistrates to endorse such convictions, warnings and reprimands on the license. It is optional under the existing law.

Power has been given to frame by-laws under section 53 preventing hackney-carriages and palanquins being used for purposes of advertisement.

Certain improvements in case of palanquins have been aimed at."

The motion was put and agreed to.

LIST OF BUSINESS ITEM No. 4.

The Hon'ble Nawab Sir Syed Shams-ul-Huda moved that the said Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Payne, the Hon'ble Mr. Panton, the Hon'ble Rai Priya Nath Mukharji Bahadur, the Hon'ble Rai Debendra Chandra Ghosh Bahadur, the Hon'ble Mr. Bray, the Hon'ble Mr. Z. R. Zahid Suhrawardy, the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray and the Mover, with instructions to submit their report in time for its presentation in Council at the meeting to be held in August next.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR said :—

"My Lord, I wish to make a few observations with regard to the principles and the general provisions of the Bill which has just been introduced and for which a motion has just been made to refer it to a Select Committee. With a view to improve the hackney-carriages of this city and to secure a more effective control over them, the Bill provides that there should be every six months an inspection by the Registering Officer of every hackney-carriage and its horses and harness. A new chapter (IIA) has been added which provides for the identification of the horses and harness which have been approved for every hackney-carriage at its registration. The provision of the Bill for the identification of the horses, if the process of marking could be made without causing much bodily pain to the animals, is no doubt likely to prove a useful and effective safeguard against deceptions and malpractices. But, my Lord, the provision made in the Bill for levying a fee for the identification of each horse, not only at the first instance but also at every subsequent renewal of such mark when it may become indistinct or obliterated seems to me to be rather hard and inequitable. When a carriage is registered, a tax is paid for its registration; this tax evidently includes the carriage, the horses, the harness and everything. I do not understand on what principle this additional tax is to be imposed upon a horse simply for its receiving a hall-mark of the Municipal Corporation. A carriage cannot be registered without a horse, and I do not see how a horse can come in for further consideration for its decoration with a cross or a star.

Then, my Lord, it seems to me that the provision for imposing a further additional tax upon the horse every time the mark becomes indistinct or obliterated seems to be extremely hard. The badge may be obliterated through no fault either of the horse or of the owner of the horse. It may be due to some defect in the process of marking; it may be due to the inefficiency of the men who may put the mark, or it may be due to some natural causes, over which none of us, not even the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, may have any control. Then, my Lord, it seems to me that if we are to impose an additional burden upon the owners of hackney-carriages they will not be slow to use it as a pretext for raising their charges against the public for their services. Upon these grounds, I object to the imposition of the tax proposed in this Bill. Then, my Lord, there is the question of a longstanding public grievance which I expected this Bill to meet. It is widely known that the existing rates of fares prescribed for hackney-carriages, both by distance as well as by time, are practically a dead letter, honoured more in their breach than in their observance. A third-class carriage is never available either at the distance rate or at the hour rate, while a second-class carriage will seldom go at either of these rates beyond St. Paul's Cathedral. The fact that exorbitant charges are often made from passengers travelling beyond the limits of the old town of Job Charnock is a great hardship which calls for a remedy. My Lord, the Jehus positively refuse to recognise the definition of Calcutta, as given in the successive Municipal enactments and notifications, as not having received their sanction. I submit that it is high time that measures were taken strictly to enforce the penalties on the subject and remove these public grievances.

My Lord, the carts represent the heaviest traffic of this city, and they are left to be dealt with only by two sections of the Municipal Act which simply provide for their registration and the levying of a fee for their registration. If the palanquins can be brought under the operation of the Hackney-carriage Act, I do not see why the carts should be left out of it. If the horses of hackney-carriages are to be marked for their identification, I do not understand why the bullocks and buffaloes of carts should be exempted from the operation. I do not think that it is all intended to mark the same distinction between them as is sometimes observed between the official and non-official members of your Excellency's Legislative Council. I would like to see some improvement effected in the construction of these primitive vehicles with their tails, describing semicircles of nearly 20 feet in diameter when rounding a corner of a street and causing obstruction to other traffic which may sometimes require ten to fifteen minutes to clear. I think, my Lord, that the present opportunity should be availed of to effect some improvement in the cart traffic of Calcutta and remove the public inconveniences occasioned by them under the present system."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SIR SYED SHAMS-UL-HUDA said :—

"My Lord, I have heard with great interest all that has been said by my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar in discussing the general principles of the Bill. He has made no proposal that the Bill should not be referred to a Select Committee. He has only taken this opportunity to discuss some of the provisions of the Bill and I can only say that all these can be considered in the Select Committee and afterwards when the Bill is brought up for discussion in the Council before it is finally passed. I, therefore, do not think it necessary to enter into the merits of the questions raised. My friend has practically supported the general provisions of the Bill but considers that though the provisions for identification are useful the scale of fee is somewhat unreasonable. These are questions which as I have said may well be considered either in the Select Committee or in the Council afterwards. As regards the rates, I think the Bill has really effected an improvement. The rates are now fixed at one uniform scale. They cannot be increased or decreased. We have taken the rates out of the Act and allowed them to be provided by by-laws. If at any time it is necessary to raise or to reduce the rates, that can now be done under by-laws to be framed under section 53 of the Act. I can assure my Hon'ble friend that all these matters will be dealt with in the Select Committee and that all that he has said will receive due consideration there."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Monday, the 7th August, 1916, at 11 A.M., at new Government House, Dacca.

No. 19, dated Simla, the 20th June 1916.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Education (Museums).

THE Government of India have had under their consideration for some time past a scheme for the constitution of a Zoological Survey of India on the basis of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Indian Museum, Calcutta. The scheme has recently been approved by the Secretary of State for India and His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish the details for the information of local Governments and Administrations and the general public. The Survey will come into force on July 1st, 1916.

2. In March 1913 the Chairman of the Trustees of the Indian Museum forwarded a representation from the Superintendent of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Museum regarding the recognition of the Zoological Section as a Zoological Survey. The Government of India who had already under consideration the desirability of establishing on a sound basis a Zoological Survey of India informed the Trustees of the Museum that they would be prepared to consider a scheme for such a survey on lines somewhat similar to the existing Botanical Survey and asked to be furnished with the necessary details. The Trustees accordingly submitted their proposals at the end of September 1913. They represented that, though it had been definitely recognized in the past that field-work and zoological research formed an important part of the official duties of the scientific officers of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Museum, both branches of work had been necessarily undertaken in a somewhat haphazard manner. Different officers had taken up the investigation of different groups of animals and had visited various parts of India and Burma in connection with their investigation without there being a definite programme drawn up each year or a comprehensive scheme of research instituted. In short, this part of the duties of the section had been in an experimental stage. They thought accordingly that the time had come to pass to further developments and suggested the establishment of a Zoological Survey. The detailed proposals of the Trustees were approved by the Board of Scientific Advice to whom they were submitted and the Government of India in recommending them to the Secretary of State in their Financial despatch No. 366, dated the 11th December 1915 urged the following additional considerations in support of the scheme:—"In the first place" they stated "since medicine, more specially tropical medicine, is intimately connected with certain branches of zoology, it is obvious that anything that furthers the interests of zoological research in this country will indirectly benefit medicine and sanitation materially. Secondly, outside interest in Indian zoology has increased in recent years and more attention is now devoted to it by individuals and societies in India. In the publication entitled Records of the Indian Museum 35 original papers on zoology have been published since March 1914, of which 14 have been written in India. Ten contributors of notes or papers have been zoologists resident in this country, who are not members of the Museum staff, while not less than five contributors have been Indians. Moreover, at the present time a survey of mammals is being carried on by the Bombay Natural History Society to which we have recently given a grant of Rs. 7,500."

3. The proposals as finally sanctioned by the Secretary of State are as follows:—

- (a) The head-quarters of the Survey will be the Indian Museum. The reports in recent years of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Indian Museum show that a good deal of zoological research work is already being done by the staff of the Section. The Museum has an excellent library and new and completely equipped laboratories. It also contains and preserves comprehensive zoological collections both from India and from other countries in Asia and issues two series of publications, viz., "Records of the Indian Museum" and "Memoirs of the Indian Museum" in which is embodied the zoological work already accomplished. It also provides facilities for students of superior scientific status to work at advanced zoology.

- (b) The scheme regarding the Zoological Survey entails the breaking up of the organization now known as the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Indian Museum into two parts, one of which will become a Government department under the title of the Zoological Survey of India and will be primarily concerned with zoological investigation and exercise such advisory functions as may be assigned to it by Government, while the other part will remain as the office of the Trustees of the Indian Museum and will be organized for the present on the lines laid down in the existing bye-laws of the Museum. One effect of the proposals will be that the Zoological and Anthropological Section will be brought into line with the Geological, Archaeological and Industrial Sections which are in the charge of the Director of the Geological Survey of India, the Director-General of Archaeology in India and the Director of the Botanical Survey of India, respectively.
- (c) The whole of the staff, office establishment and menials of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Museum with the exception of those employes of the Section who are engaged solely in connection with the maintenance of discipline, cleanliness, etc., in the Museum as a whole and the chaprasis employed by the Trustees, will be transferred to the Zoological Survey. The Superintendent of the present Zoological and Anthropological Section will become the Director of the Zoological Survey, with his head-quarters at the Indian Museum. He will however continue to be ex-officio Secretary to the Trustees but the Government of India do not consider it desirable to lay down the condition that this combination of posts shall continue indefinitely, provided that if a separate Secretary is at any time appointed no increased cost to Government is thereby involved. He will also continue for the present to perform the duties of Superintendent of the Indian Museum. The Director of the Zoological Survey will be regarded for the purposes of the Indian Museum Act as Superintendent of the Zoological and Anthropological Section of the Museum.

The superior staff of the Zoological Survey will be as follows :—

1 Director, Zoological Survey of India. The first Director will be Dr. Annandale, B.A., D.Sc., C.M.Z.S., F.L.S., F.A.S.B., the present Superintendent of the Zoological and Anthropological Section.

1 Superintendent, Zoological Survey of India.

2 Assistant Superintendents, Zoological Survey of India.

Besides the above, the Surgeon Naturalist to the Indian Marine Survey will be considered an officer of the Zoological Survey and be styled ex-officio Assistant Superintendent of the Survey. He will carry out his work in direct connection with the Zoological Survey, but he will be liable to military duty in case of emergency and will be subject to naval discipline while on board the "Investigator."

- (d) The Zoological Survey will be a scientific department of the Government of India under the direct control of the Department of Education just as the Botanical Survey is under that of the Department of Revenue and Agriculture.

The relations between the new Survey and the Trustees will be regulated by clause 7 (c) of the Indian Museum Act (X of 1910) and will be identical with those that at present exist between the Archaeological Survey and the Trustees except that the Director of the Zoological Survey, as stated in paragraph 3 (c) above, will be ex-officio Secretary to the Trust. The Trustees will lend to the Director of the Zoological Survey their zoological collections, retaining visiting powers in the Zoological Section as in the others in which a similar loan has been effected. They will, however, retain full control of their Secretary's office.

- (e) It will be the duty of the Zoological Survey to act as guardians of the standard zoological collection of the Indian Empire and as such to give every assistance in their power both to officials and to others in the identification of zoological specimens submitted to them, arranging, if requested to do so, to send collections to specialists abroad for identification in cases in which no specialist is available in India. The Survey will also obtain the fullest possible information about the systematic and geographical zoology of the Indian Empire and will place this information at the disposal of inquirers. It will not, however, interfere in any way with private enterprise in zoological matters or with the scientific work of other Imperial or Provincial Government departments.

The Forest and Agricultural Departments subordinate to the Government of India have agreed to collaborate in the Zoological Survey on the same condition of co-operation as exists between the Botanical Survey and other Government departments, i.e., collaboration without subordination. Local Governments and Administrations will, it is hoped, similarly allow their officers to co-operate with the Zoological Survey without being in any way subordinate to its Director. Their co-operation will be most welcome and valuable.

- (f) The Director of the Zoological Survey will act as Zoological Adviser to the Government of India in the same way as the Director of the Botanical Survey acts as Botanical and the Director General of Archaeology as Archaeological Adviser. He will be treated as a head of a department and will be empowered, subject to the usual conditions, to reappropriate funds within his budget grants from one head to another and to create temporary appointments up to Rs. 50 a month.

Just as the Director-General of Archaeology is in charge of the archaeological collection of the Indian Museum, so the Director of the Zoological Survey will be in charge of the zoological and anthropological collections.

- (g) The zoological publications of the Indian Museum will be continued in their present form and under their present titles, but will be edited by the Director of the Zoological Survey instead of by the Superintendent of the Indian Museum. The great bibliographical inconvenience involved in any change of name will thus be avoided and any break of continuity rendered unnecessary.
- (h) The personal allowance of Rs. 200 a month at present given to the Senior Assistant Superintendent, who will be styled Superintendent, Zoological Survey of India, shall be made a regular part of the pay of his post. The effect of this change is as shown below:—

Present.	Future.
1 Superintendent, Zoological and Anthropological Section, Indian Museum, Rs. 1,000—80—1,400 with free quarters.	1 Director, Zoological Survey of India, Rs. 1,000—80—1,400 with free quarters.
1 Senior Assistant Superintendent Rs. 500—40*—700 with free quarters.	1 Superintendent, Zoological Survey of India, Rs. 700—40*—900 with free quarters.

Personal allowance Rs. 200.

* (Biennially.)

Present.	Future.
1 Assistant Superintendent, † Rs. 500—40*—700.	1 Assistant Superintendent, † Zoological Survey of India. Rs. 500—40*—700.
1 Assistant Superintendent, † Rs. 500—40*—700.	1 Assistant Superintendent, † Zoological Survey of India. Rs. 500—40*—700.

* (Biennially)

† Admitted to the benefits of the Calcutta house allowance scheme.

- (i) The income of the Trustees of the Indian Museum from private sources, viz., gate money (average Rs. 1,300) and sale of publications (average Rs. 800), which are of a fluctuating nature, shall be credited to Government and in their place an annual fixed grant of Rs. 10,708 shall be given to them to meet their charges.

4. The financial effect of the scheme is as shown below :—

The details of the income, which at present ordinarily suffices to meet the normal annual expenditure of the Zoological and Anthropological Section, were in 1913-14 as follows :—

	Rs.
(1) Grants from Government on account of (a) non-gazetted establishment including the special Entomological Assistant whose pay (Rs. 100—15—250) is met from the special educational grant, (b) maintenance, and (c) acquisition of specimens	61,970
(2) Receipts from gate money (average Rs. 1,300), sale of publications (average Rs. 800) and savings on non-gazetted establishment and on gazetted staff (average Rs. 1,200)	3,300
(3) Average cost of superior staff (i.e. , 1 Superintendent and 3 Assistant Superintendents) paid by Government	41,090
Total	1,06,360

The funds of the Section will be distributed as follows :—

Museum.

(1) Grant to the Trustees of the Museum for general Museum work, viz., (1) Rs. 8,708 on account of establishment as now revised, and (2) Rs. 2,000 on account of petty expenditure	10,708
---	--------

Zoological Survey.

(1) Gazetted staff	41,090
(2) Non-gazetted establishment	22,132
(3) Grant for contingencies and travelling allowances of gazetted and non-gazetted establishment	34,000
(4) Ethnological gallery	529
(3) Special Entomological Assistant	2,430
Total	1,10,889

Deduct—Rs. 1,200 on account of probable savings on non-gazetted and gazetted establishment

1,09,689

It will be observed that taking the expenditure as a whole the scheme involves at present an extra cost of about Rs. 3,300 a year. Financially the main effect of this scheme is that Government will in future make a grant of Rs. 10,708 only to the Museum instead of its present grants, but will accept responsibility for the whole of the expenditure of the Zoological Survey.

5. In conclusion, the Governor General in Council trusts that the co-ordination and systematisation of zoological work throughout India, which will be a necessary consequence of the establishment of a Zoological Survey, in such a manner as will avoid overlapping and assist in the filling up of gaps will be of considerable value to this country.

No. 8997P.—The 13th July 1916.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 12, sub-section (1) of the Indian Press Act, 1910 (I of 1910), the Governor in Council hereby declares to be forfeited to His Majesty all copies, wherever found, of the pamphlet in Urdu entitled "Stories of the Russian Revolution," published by the Hindusthan Ghadr Office, San Francisco, U.S.A., and all copies of all other documents containing the matter of the said pamphlet on the ground that the said pamphlet contains eulogies of assassination and rebellion, and therefore appears to the Governor in Council to contain words which have a tendency to incite to acts of violence and are of the nature described in section 4, sub-section (1), clause (a), of the said Act

No. 9250P.—The 17th July 1916.—The following is published for general information.

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Extract (paragraphs 1 and 2) from a Resolution by the Government of India in the Home Department, Nos. 2951-64, dated the 18th December 1914, as amended by that Department Resolution Nos. 1286-1299, dated the 15th April 1915, and form of Certificate of Identity.

IN supersession of the orders contained in the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, Nos. 2831-2842, dated the 8th December 1899, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue the following instructions with regard to certificates of identity.

2. Every Native of India who contemplates proceeding out of India to foreign countries is strongly urged before leaving to furnish himself with an authoritative certificate of identity, in the form appended to this Resolution, signed by the head of the district (in a Presidency town and in the town of Rangoon, the Commissioner of Police) in the case of residents of British India, and by the Political Officer in that of residents of Native States. In the case of a student the certificate should be signed by the head of his last school or college and countersigned by the District Officer (in a Presidency town and in the town of Rangoon, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, as the case may be.

Appeals for assistance by destitute Indians who desire repatriation and by students who, owing to embarrassed circumstances, are unable to complete their course of education, cannot be dealt with satisfactorily unless the parties are in a position to produce evidence of identity. The possession of a certificate of identity will be specially useful to young men of good family, as it may enable the Secretary of State to obtain for them social and other attentions.

Those who are desirous, however, of travelling in countries where a passport will be necessary are advised to furnish themselves with such a document also before leaving India, in lieu of, or in addition to, a certificate of identity. It should be remembered that no person is entitled to a passport, as of right, on the ground that he is a British subject, and the production before authorities outside India of a certificate of identity, unless supplemented by documentary evidence of respectability, is not sufficient to ensure that a passport will be granted.

Form of Certificate of Identity.

1. Name of applicant _____
2. Father's name and caste _____
3. Residence _____
4. Age of applicant _____
5. *Nationality of applicant _____
6. Social or pecuniary status of father (or guardian) _____
7. Date of probable departure of applicant from India _____
8. Object of applicant's visit to England (Europe) _____

Signature of District Officer (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, or head of school or college.†

Dated _____

* i.e., whether a British subject by birth, or by naturalization (or a subject of a Native State).

† Countersignature of the District or Political Officer should be obtained on certificates signed by heads of schools or colleges.

NOTE. — Holders of certificates of identity intending to apply subsequently in England or elsewhere for a passport to visit a foreign country are warned that no person is entitled to a passport as of right on the sole ground that he is a British subject. The production of a certificate of identity, therefore, will not ordinarily be sufficient to secure the grant of a passport, unless it is supplemented by documentary evidence of respectability, endorsed by a local Government or other authority competent to issue passports in India, certifying that the holder is a fit and proper person to receive a passport.

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 758.—The following is published for general information :—
Third Supplement, dated the 29th May 1916, to the "London Gazette" of the 26th May 1916, pages 5311 to 5316.

*War Office,
 London, S.W.,
 29th May 1916.*

The following despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from General Sir Douglas Haig, G.C.B., Commander-in-Chief, the British Forces in France :—

*General Headquarters,
 19th May 1916.*

MY LORD,

1. I have the honour to report the operations of the British Forces serving in France and Belgium since 19th December, 1915, on which date, in accordance with the orders of His Majesty's Government, I assumed the Chief Command.

During this period, the only offensive effort made by the enemy on a great scale was directed against our French Allies near Verdun. The fighting in that area has been prolonged and severe. The results have been worthy of the high traditions of the French Army and of great service to the cause of the Allies. The efforts made by the enemy have cost him heavy losses both in men and in prestige, and he has made these sacrifices without gaining any advantage to counterbalance them.

During this struggle my troops have been in readiness to co-operate as they might be needed, but the only assistance asked for by our Allies was of an indirect nature—viz., the relief of the French troop on a portion of their defensive front. This relief I was glad to be able to afford.

Its execution on a considerable front, everywhere in close touch with the enemy, was a somewhat delicate operation, but it was carried out with complete success, thanks to the cordial co-operation and goodwill of all ranks concerned and to the lack of enterprise shown by the enemy during the relief.

2. On the British front no action on a great scale, such as that at Verdun, has been fought during the past five months, nevertheless our troops have been far from idle or inactive. Although the struggle, in a general sense, has not been intense, it has been everywhere continuous, and there have been many sharp local actions.

The maintenance and repair of our defences alone, especially in winter, entail constant heavy work. Bad weather and the enemy combine to flood and destroy trenches, dug-outs and communications; all such damages must be repaired promptly, under fire, and almost entirely by night.

Artillery and snipers are practically never silent, patrols are out in front of the lines every night, and heavy bombardments by the artillery of one or both sides take place daily in various parts of the line. Below ground there is continual mining and counter-mining, which, by the ever-present threat of sudden explosion and the uncertainty as to when and where it will take place, causes perhaps a more constant strain than any other form of warfare. In the air there is seldom a day, however bad the weather, when aircraft are not busy reconnoitring, photographing, and observing fire. All this is taking place constantly at any hour of the day or night, and any part of the line.

3. In short, although there has been no great incident of historic importance to record on the British front during the period under review, a steady and continuous fight has gone on, day and night, above ground and below it. The comparative monotony of this struggle has been relieved at short intervals by sharp local actions, some of which, although individually almost insignificant in a war on such an immense scale, would have been thought worthy of a separate despatch under different conditions, while their cumulative effect, though difficult to appraise at its true value now, will doubtless prove hereafter to have been considerable.

One form of minor activity deserves special mention, namely, the raids or "cutting out parties" which are made at least twice or three times a week against the enemy's line. They consist of a brief attack, with some special object, on a section of the opposing trenches, usually carried out at night by a small body of men. The character of these operations—the preparation of a road through our own and the enemy's wire—the crossing of the open ground unseen—the penetration of the enemy's trenches—the hand-to-hand fighting in the darkness and the uncertainty as to the strength of the opposing force—give peculiar scope to the gallantry, dash and quickness of decision of the troops engaged; and much skill and daring are frequently displayed in these operations.

The initiative in these minor operations was taken, and on the whole has been held, by us; but the Germans have recently attempted some bold and well-conceived raids against our lines, many of which have been driven back, although some have succeeded in penetrating, as has been reported by me from time to time.

4. Of the numerous local actions alluded to, the total number, omitting the more minor raids, amounts to over 60 since December 19th, of which the most important have been:—

The operations at The Bluff, the Hohenzollern Redoubt, and at St. Eloi; the mining operations and crater fighting in the Loos salient and on the Vimy Ridge; and the hostile gas attacks north of Ypres in December, and opposite Hulluch and Messines in April.

The most recent local operations worthy of mention are the capture of some 500 yards of our trenches by the Germans at the Kink, on the 11th May, and the capture by us of 250 yards of their trenches near Cabaret Rouge, on the night of the 15th-16th May.

5. As an illustration of the nature of these local operations, it will suffice to describe two or three of the most important.

Ypres Salient and The Bluff, 8th February to 2nd March, 1916.

During the period 8th to 19th February the enemy displayed increased activity in the Ypres salient, and carried out a series of infantry attacks, preceded, as a rule, by intense bombardment, and by the explosion of mines. These attacks may, no doubt, be regarded as a subsidiary operation, designed partly to secure local points of vantage, but probably also to distract attention from the impending operations near Verdun, which began on the 21st February.

After several days' heavy shelling over the whole of our line in this area, the first attack took place on 12th February at the extreme left of our line to the north of Ypres. A bombing attack was launched by the Germans in the early morning, and they succeeded in capturing our trenches. Our counter-attack, however, which was immediately organised, enabled us to clear our trenches of the enemy, and to pursue him to his own. After a period of further bombardment on both sides, the German fire again increased in intensity against our trenches and the French line beyond them; and in the evening a second attempt was made to rush our extreme left—this time entirely without success. Smaller attempts against other trenches in the neighbourhood were made at the same time, but were immediately repulsed by rifle and machine-gun fire. Throughout the operations our position in this part of the line remained intact, except that two isolated trenches of no tactical importance were captured by the enemy a day or two later; they were subsequently obliterated by our artillery fire. Throughout this fighting the French on our immediate left rendered us the prompt and valuable assistance which we have at all times received from them.

Another series of German attacks was launched about the same time in the neighbourhood of Hooze to the east of Ypres. The enemy had pushed out several saps in front of his trenches, and connected them up into a firing line some 150 yards from our lines. During the whole of the 13th February he heavily bombarded our front-line trenches in this neighbourhood, and completely destroyed them. On the following afternoon an intense bombardment of our line began, and the enemy exploded a series of mines in front of our trenches, simultaneously launching infantry attacks against Hooze and the northern and southern ends of Sanctuary Wood. Each of these attacks was repulsed by artillery, machine-gun and rifle fire.

Further to the south, however, the enemy was more successful. On the northern bank of the Ypres Comines Canal there is a narrow ridge, 30 to 40 feet high, covered with trees—probably the heap formed by excavation when the canal was dug—which forms a feature of the flat-wooded country at the southern bend of the Ypres salient. It runs outward through our territory almost into the German area, so that our trenches pass over the eastern point of it, which is known as The Bluff. Here also our trenches were almost obliterated by the bombardment on the afternoon of the 14th, following which a sudden rush of hostile infantry was successful in capturing these and other front-line trenches immediately north of The Bluff—some 600 yards in all. Two of these trenches were at once regained, but the others were held by the enemy, in the face of several counter-attacks. On the night of the 15th-16th we made an unsuccessful counter-attack, with the object of regaining the lost trenches. An advance was begun across the open on the north side of the canal, combined with grenade attacks along the communication trenches immediately north of The Bluff. The night was very dark, and heavy rain had turned the ground into a quagmire, so that progress was difficult for the attacking force, which was unable to consolidate its position in the face of heavy machine-gun and rifle fire. After the failure of this attack it was decided to adopt slower and more methodical methods of re-capturing the lost trenches, and nothing of special importance occurred in the Ypres salient during the rest of the month, although both sides displayed rather more than the usual activity.

The re-capture of The Bluff took place after the enemy had held it for seventeen days. After several days' preliminary bombardment by our artillery, the assault was carried out at 4-29 A.M. on the 2nd March. Measures taken to deceive the enemy were successful, and our infantry effected a complete surprise, finding the enemy with their bayonets unfixed, and many of them without rifles or equipment. About 50 Germans took refuge in a crater at the eastern end of The Bluff, and these put up a brief resistance before taking refuge in the tunnels they had constructed, in which they were captured at leisure. Otherwise our right-hand attacking party, whose objective was The Bluff, met with little opposition.

The front line of the centre attack, reaching its assigned objective without much opposition, swept on past it and seized the German Third Line at the eastern side of the salient. This line was not suitable to hold permanently, but it proved useful as a temporary covering position while the captured trenches in rear were being consolidated, and at nightfall the covering party was withdrawn unmolested. The later waves of our centre attack met and captured, after some fighting, several Germans coming out of their dug-outs.

The left attacking party, at the first attempt, failed to reach the German trenches, but those who had penetrated to the German line on the right realised the situation and brought a Lewis gun to bear on the enemy's line of resistance, completely enfilading his trenches, and thus enabling the left company to reach its goal.

Thus our objective, which included a party of the German line, as well as the whole of the front lost by us on the 14th February, was captured, and is still held by us. Several counter-attacks were destroyed by our fire. The enemy's trenches were found full of dead as a result of our bombardment, and five officers and 251 other ranks were captured.

The support of the Heavy and Field Artillery, and a number of trench mortars, contributed largely to the success of the operation.

St. Eloi.

6. On the 27th March our troops made an attack with the object of straightening out the line at St. Eloi, and cutting away the small German salient which encroached on the semi-circle of our line in the Ypres salient to a depth of about 100 yards over a front of some 600 yards. The operation was begun by the firing of six very large mines; the charge was so heavy that the explosion was felt in towns several miles behind the lines, and large numbers of the enemy were killed. Half a minute after the explosion our infantry attack was launched aiming at the German Second Line. The right attack met with little opposition, and captured its assigned objective; but the left attack was not so successful, and a gap was left in possession of the Germans, through which they entered one of the craters. The following days were spent by both sides in heavy bombardment and in unsuccessful attacks, intended on our part to capture the remaining trenches, and on the part of the Germans to drive us from the positions we had occupied. In the very early morning of April 3rd we succeeded in recapturing the crater and the trenches still held by the enemy, thereby securing the whole of our original objective. We had, moreover, captured five officers and 195 men in the first attack on March 27th, and five officers and 80 men in the attack on April 3rd. The work of consolidating our new position, however, proved extremely difficult, owing to the wet soil, heavy shelling and mine explosions; though pumps were brought up and efforts at draining were instituted, the result achieved was comparatively small. By dint of much heavy work the Brigade holding these trenches succeeded in reducing the water in the trenches by 2 feet by the morning of the 5th. This state of affairs could not, even so, be regarded as satisfactory; and during the 5th the enemy's bombardment increased in intensity, and the new trenches practically ceased to exist. On the morning of the 6th the enemy attacked with one battalion supported by another; he penetrated our new line, and gained the two westernmost craters. It is difficult to follow in detail the fighting of the next three weeks, which consisted in repeated attacks by both sides on more or less isolated mine craters, the trench lines having been destroyed by shell fire. Great efforts were made to maintain communication with the garrisons of these advanced posts, and with considerable success. But there were periods of uncertainty, and some misconception as to the state of affairs arose. On the 11th it was reported to me that we had recaptured all that remained of the position won by us on the 27th March and 3rd April. This report, probably due to old craters having been mistaken for new ones, was subsequently found to be incorrect. The new craters, being exposed to the enemy's view and to the full weight of his artillery fire, have proved untenable and at the present time our troops are occupying trenches roughly in the general line which was held by them before the 27th.

German Gas Attacks, 27th-30th April.

7. On the night of the 29th-30th April the enemy carried out a gas attack on a considerable scale near Wulverghem, on a front of 3,500 yards. The operation was opened by heavy rifle and machine-gun fire under cover of which the gas was released. Immediately afterwards a heavy "barrage", or curtain of artillery fire, was placed on three parts of this area, and eight infantry attacks were launched. Of these attacks only two penetrated our trenches; one was immediately repelled, while the other was driven out by a counter-attack after about 40 minutes' occupation. The enemy's object would appear to have been the destruction of mine shafts, as a charge of guncotton was found unexploded in a disused shaft, to which the enemy had penetrated. But if this was his object he was completely unsuccessful.

Similar attacks were made by the Germans in front of Vermelles, to the south of La Bassée, on the 27th and 29th April, the discharge of a highly-concentrated gas being accompanied by bombardment with lachrymatory and other shells and the explosion of a mine. On the first occasion two minor infantry attacks penetrated our trenches, but were driven out almost immediately; on the second occasion a small attack was repulsed, but the more serious advance which appears to have been intended was probably rendered impossible by the fact that a part of the enemy's gas broke back over his own lines, to the visible confusion of his troops, who were massing for the attack.

9. The activity described above has its counterpart in rear of our lines in the training which is carried out continuously. During the periods of relief all formations, and especially the newly-created ones, are instructed and practised in all classes of the present and other phases of warfare. A large number of schools also exist for the instruction of individuals especially in the use and theory of the less familiar weapons, such as bombs and grenades.

There are schools for young staff officers and regimental officers, for candidates for commissions, etc. In short, every effort is made to take advantage of the closer contact with actual warfare, and to put the finishing touches, often after actual experience in the trenches, to the training received at home.

10. During the period under review the forces under my command have been considerably augmented by the arrival of new formations from home, and the transfer of others released from service in the Near East. This increase has made possible the relief of a French Army, to which I have already referred, at the time of the Battle of Verdun. Among the newly-arrived forces is the "Anzac" Corps. With them the Canadians, and a portion of the South African Overseas Force which has also arrived, the Dominions now furnish a valuable part of the Imperial Forces in France.

Since the date of the last Despatch, but before I assumed command, the Indian Army Corps left this country for service in the East. They had given a year's valuable and gallant service under conditions of warfare which they had not dreamt of, and in a climate peculiarly difficult for them to endure. I regret their departure, but I do not doubt that they will continue to render gallant and effective service elsewhere, as they have already done in this country.

11. I take this opportunity to bring to notice the admirable work which the Royal Flying Corps has continued to perform, in spite of much unfavourable weather, in carrying out reconnaissance duties, in taking photographs—and important aid to reconnaissance which has been brought to a high pitch of perfection—and in assisting the work of our Artillery by registering targets and locating hostile batteries. In the performance of this work they have flown in weather when no hostile aeroplane ventured out, and they have not hesitated to fly low, under fire of the enemy's guns, when their duties made it necessary to do so. They have also carried out a series of bombing raids on hostile aerodromes and points of military importance. A feature of the period under review has been the increased activity of the enemy's aircraft, in suitable weather. But the enemy's activity has been mainly on his own side of the line, and has aimed chiefly at interrupting the work carried out by our machines. In order to carry on the work in spite of this opposition, which was for a time rendered more effective by the appearance in December of a new and more powerful type of enemy machine, it has been necessary to provide an escort to accompany our reconnaissance aeroplanes, and fighting in the air, which was formerly exceptional, has now become an everyday occurrence.

The observers, no less than the pilots, have done excellent service, and many fine feats have been performed by both. Developments on the technical side of the Air Service have been no less remarkable and satisfactory than the progress made on the purely military side. Much inventive genius has been displayed; and our equipment for photography, wireless telegraphy, bomb-dropping and offensive action generally has been immensely improved, while great skill has been shown in keeping the flying machines themselves in good flying condition.

12. The continuance of siege warfare has entailed for the Royal Engineers work of a particularly arduous and important kind extending from the front trenches to the Base Ports.

In the performance of this work the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men of the Field Companies and other units of the Corps have continued to exhibit a very high standard of skill, courage, and devotion to duty.

13. The work of the Tunnelling Companies calls for special mention. Increased mining activity on the part of the enemy has invariably been answered with enterprise combined with untiring energy on the part of our miners, who, in carrying out duties always full of danger, have shown that they possess in the highest degree the qualities of courage, perseverance, and self-sacrifice. Their importance in the present phase of warfare is very great.

14. The excellent work done by the Corps of Military Police is worthy of mention. This Corps is inspired by a high sense of duty, and in the performance of its share in the maintenance of discipline it has shown both zeal and discretion.

15. All branches of the Medical Services deserve the highest commendation for the successful work done by them, both at the Front and on the Lines of Communication. The sick rate has been consistently low; there has been no serious epidemic, and enteric fever, the bane of armies in the past, has almost completely disappeared owing to preventive measures energetically carried out.

The results of exposure incidental to trench warfare during the winter months were to a very great extent kept in check by careful application of the precautions recommended and taught by regimental Medical Officers.

The wounded have been promptly and efficiently dealt with, and their evacuation to the Base has been rapidly accomplished.

The close co-operation which has existed between the officers of the Regular Medical Service of the Army and those members of the civil medical profession, who have patriotically given their valuable services to the Army, has largely contributed to the prevention of disease and to the successful treatment and comfort of the sick and wounded.

As part of the Medical Services, the Canadian Army Medical Corps has displayed marked efficiency and devotion to duty.

16. The Commission of Graves Registration and Enquiries has, since it first undertook this work eighteen months ago, registered and marked over 50,000 graves. Without its labours many would have remained unidentified. It has answered several thousand enquiries from relatives and supplied them with photographs. Flowers and shrubs have been planted in most of the cemeteries which are sufficiently far removed from the firing line, and all cemeteries which it is possible to work in during the daytime are now being looked after by non-commissioned officers and men of this unit.

17. The valuable nature of the work performed by the officers of the Central Laboratory and the Chemical Advisers with the Armies in investigations into the nature of the gases and other new substances used in hostile attacks, and in devising and perfecting means of protecting our troops against them, is deserving of recognition. The efforts of these officers materially contributed to the failure of the Germans in their attack of 19th December 1915, as well as in the various gas attacks since made.

18. The stream of additional personnel and material arriving from England, and the move of complete formations to and from the East during the period under review, have thrown a great deal of work on our Base Ports and on the Advanced Base. The staff and personnel at these stations have coped most ably with the work of forwarding and equipping the various units passing through their hands, and I desire to bring their good work to notice.

19. The large increases made to our forces have necessitated a great expansion in the resources of our Lines of Communication, and I have been greatly struck by the forethought shown by the Administrative Services in anticipating the requirements of the Armies in the Field and in the provision made to satisfy these requirements.

The Base Ports have been developed to the utmost possible extent, advanced Dépôts have been provided, and communications have been improved to ensure punctual distribution to the troops.

Labour has been organised in order to develop local resources, especially in the matter of timber for defences and hutting, and stone for road maintenance, whereby considerable reductions have been made possible in the shipments from over sea.

Economy has attended the good methods adopted, and the greatest credit is due to all concerned for the results obtained.

20. I desire to acknowledge here the valuable assistance rendered by the naval transport officers on the Lines of Communication. They have worked with and for the Army most untiringly, efficiently, and with the utmost harmony.

I also desire to acknowledge the indebtedness of the Army to the Royal Navy for their unceasing and uniformly successful care in securing the safety of our transport service on the seas.

21. I wish to acknowledge the work done in the reproduction of maps by the Ordnance Survey Department. Over 90 per cent. of the maps used in this country are reproduced and printed in England by the Ordnance Survey, and the satisfactory supply is largely due to the foresight and initiative displayed by this Department. I can now count on obtaining an issue of as many as 10,000 copies of any map within one week of sending it home for reproduction.

22. I have forwarded under a separate letter the names of the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men whom I wish to bring to notice for gallant and distinguished service.

23. I cannot close this Despatch without some reference to the work of my predecessor in Command, Field-Marshal Viscount French. The Field-Marshal, starting the war with our small Expeditionary Force, faced an enemy far superior in numbers and fully prepared for this great campaign. During the long and anxious time needed for the improvisation of the comparatively large force now serving in this country, he overcame all difficulties, and before laying down his responsibilities he had the satisfaction of seeing the balance of advantage swing steadily in our favour. Those who have served under him appreciate the greatness of his achievement.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

D. HAIG, General,

in France.*
